

SENATE VOTES BILL MERGING TWO COUNTIES

Fulton and Campbell To Be Consolidated If People So Vote at Special Election.

MEASURE GOES TO GOVERNOR

Obligations and Contracts Will Be Transferred Under Act Offered by Gullatt, Brown.

Consolidation of Fulton and Campbell counties under a single administrative government was approved Wednesday by the state senate.

The bill, introduced in the assembly by Representatives Brown, of Fulton, and Gullatt, of Campbell, had previously passed the house and will now go to the governor for his signature.

The measure provides that approval of the voters in both counties be secured before the combine becomes effective. The entire government of Campbell county would be abolished, and laws establishing the courts and board of commissioners repealed. If ratified by the voters, the consolidation would become effective on January 1, 1932.

Election Called.
According to terms of the Brown-Gullatt bill, an election on the merger is to be called in Campbell county by a petition of ten per cent of the voters. A majority of two-thirds would be necessary to give the plan official sanction of Campbell county. If the merger is ratified in Campbell, the secretary of state would notify Fulton county authorities who would hold an election before September 1, 1931.

A majority vote of Fulton citizens would automatically put the consolidation into effect after the two-thirds vote for ratification in Campbell. All real estate and other property belonging to Campbell county would be transferred to Fulton authorities. Cases and proceedings in courts there would automatically be continued in Fulton county.

Prosperity Promised.
Representative Gullatt, one of the co-authors of the bill, predicted that its final ratification by the people of both counties would bring unprecedented prosperity into this region of Georgia. He believed that the prestige of Fulton county combined with the facilities for industrial development in Campbell would produce one of the largest and most successful manufacturing districts in the south.

"Large industries want to be located near Atlanta in the heart of the south," Mr. Gullatt said Wednesday, "but they do not want to acquire large plots of land in Fulton county because of the expense." With the numerous transportation facilities of the near-by district, manufacturers will be attracted into this region, he believed.

The merger of Fulton and Campbell counties would more than double the area of Fulton county and would add 12,000 citizens to its population. There are three fair-sized towns in the county—Palmetto, Union City and Fairburn, which is the present county seat.

Plan Is Lauded.
The Campbell county representative state that juncture of Fulton with its county was more desirable than connection with DeKalb, as has at times been proposed, because of its possibilities as an industrial district. He thought that addition of the DeKalb residential districts would not add to the material prosperity of either county.

Little opposition was met by the measure in either house of the legislature. The senate count showed a unanimous approval of the merger, 30-0. In the house of representatives the bill was passed on July 31 by a 124-to-1 majority.

The measure will probably be presented to Governor Hardman on Thursday.

UNDERTAKER SUE FOR $200 BY MAN WHO WAS "BURIED"

Detroit, August 7.—(AP)—Suit for $200 spent on his funeral was initiated today by Joseph Slominski, against the undertaker who officially buried him. Slominski returned home today after a 17-month absence, only to be informed he was dead and buried and $200 had been left with his landlady had been used to provide flowers and other little white-roses of a first-class funeral.

While appreciating the spirit which prompted the expenditure, Slominski considered it entirely unnecessary and instituted suit for a refund. It was explained that the error in choosing a principal for Slominski's funeral arose from the fact that he did not notify relatives when he was sent to a county infirmary as an alcoholic. He was reported missing and a body in the county morgue identified as his.

VIRGINIA RETURN TO FOLD EXPECTED BY DEMOCRATS

Anti-Smith-G. O. P. Candidate Believed Facing Defeat by National Leaders of Party.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
Washington, August 7.—Analyzing the vote cast in the democratic gubernatorial primary of Virginia Tuesday, national democratic leaders here today interpreted the nomination of Professor John Garland Pollard as meaning the return of the Old Dominion to its traditional party moorings.

The fact that the total vote in the primary will approach the 150,000 mark when all returns are in means the defeat of the Cannon-republican coalition ticket this fall, it is held. Although the vote cast Tuesday was less than that polled by President Hoover when he carried the state last November, it came up to the expectations of democratic leaders, who, even before the primary, declared that a total ballot of as low as 125,000 would spell later democratic success. It is pointed out here that the normal democratic primary participation in Virginia is around 150,000.

The estimated strength shown Tuesday, but leaders emphasized, it would not have been surprising to see the vote fall below this figure due to the fact that this is an off-election year, with no candidates for national office in the field.

Brown Is Opponent.
Professor Pollard's opponent in the fall general election will be Professor William Moseley Brown, nominee of the regular republicans and the anti-Smith democrats, headed by Bishop James Cannon, Jr., who led the revolt against the Smith-Robinson ticket. Defeat of the Cannon nominee as Professor Brown is deemed will spell the doom of the anti-Smith program not only in Virginia, but throughout the southern states generally.

On the other hand if the political clout, now under fire for his recent alleged gambling operations with a New York bank, should succeed in putting over his Virginia candidacy, this might prove an example for similar movements in the southern states where the anti-Smith element polled a considerable vote.

The Virginia democratic leaders profess confidence in the election of Mr. Pollard. They feel that the showing made in the democratic primary yesterday is encouraging. Mr. Pollard was overwhelmingly nominated. The latest figures show that he received 96,299 votes to 28,240 cast for G. W. Walter Mapp, and 4,455 for Roosevelt Page. This is a total of approximately 125,000 votes, with 311 voting precincts out of 1,881 still to be heard from. Thus the total vote in the primary may run to 150,000 when all the returns are in.

Dispute in the presidential election last November when President Hoover carried the state by a combination of republican and anti-Smith democratic votes: Hoover 164,609; Smith 140,146.

Nominated Twice.
Dr. Brown was nominated by the anti-Smith democrats in Roanoke several weeks ago in convention. His nomination by the republicans was through the convention route. It is impossible, therefore, to make a comparison of primary figures between Pollard and Brown.

The coalition candidate against Pollard has always been a democrat up until last year, when with many other democrats he broke away and voted for Hoover and against Smith. The anti-Smith democrats believe that it will be possible to rally many democrats who are not in the present control of the national committee to John J. Raskob, a wet, and the selection of Al Smith for post in support of Brown.

The republicans agreed to cast their lot with Dr. Brown and the anti-Smith democrats, realizing that it was their only chance to win. It was also their chance of bringing eventually into the ranks of the republican party of Virginia many of the democrats who opposed Governor Alfred E. Smith.

Campaign Started.
Dr. Brown, a youthful and able speaker, has already started his campaign. His appeal to the democrats is to throw off the leadership in the state which supported the Smith-Robinson ticket. He professes to believe that the result of a wet label being attached to the democratic national organization.

Bishop Cannon has hit back at his enemies, denying all the charges made against him, and carrying the war into their camp. While he is soon to return to Europe, he will return in time to take his part in the campaign this fall. Mr. Pollard is not new to politics in Virginia. He was a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor in 1917, but lost in a three-cornered race with Westmoreland Davis and Lieutenant Governor Taylor Ellison. Davis was regarded as wet and Ellison and Pollard were regarded as dry. This incident was not inclined to make Pollard and Bishop Cannon good friends.

SENATE PASSES BILL TO PERMIT TAX INCOME

James Burke Denies Charge That He Edited Address She Delivered to Methodist Bishops.

DENIES INSERTING RELIGIOUS ISSUE

Statement Is Made by National Committee Counsel After Paying Visit to White House.

Washington, August 7.—(United News.)—James Francis Burke, counsel for the republican national committee, denied in a statement issued here tonight that he ever encouraged Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt to raise the religious issue during the last presidential campaign or approved the manuscript of a speech in which she exhorted Methodist ministers to oppose Alfred E. Smith from their pulpits.

In the series of newspaper articles she is writing about her experiences as assistant attorney-general in charge of prohibition cases, Mrs. Willebrandt said Burke "edited" the speech she delivered at Springfield, Ohio, calling upon ministers attending a Methodist conference to "Go back to your pulpits and preach this doctrine." She was widely criticized for the speech which was called by her opponents an attempt to arouse religious prejudice against Smith.

Until tonight Burke had refused to comment on Mrs. Willebrandt's charge. This noon he was a luncheon guest at the White House. His sudden decision to reply to the charge caused speculation here concerning the possibility that President Hoover had suggested the disavowal statement. Burke was one of the president's advisers in the campaign, it was pointed out, and Mrs. Hoover might have felt that Mrs. Willebrandt's accusation, if unanswerable, would reflect on the entire administration.

Burke's complete statement follows: "Ordinarily I pay no attention to campaign canards, but in the interest of truth and all concerned I am compelled to deny that during the last presidential campaign I ever urged or suggested that Mrs. Willebrandt discuss any man's religion or any religious subject, nor did I ever insert or attempt to insert any religious comment in any speech she made or intended to make, nor was any manuscript of hers containing any attack on any man's religion or personal character or raising the religious issue ever submitted to or scrutinized by me, nor did any manuscript of her Springfield speech which came to headquarters contain any such expression as 'Go back to your pulpits and preach this doctrine,' or anything akin to it.

"It is needless to say that had Mrs. Willebrandt or any other person submitted to me a speech attacking my own religion I would have resented and repudiated it."

FORD TOUR TO HALT IN CITY TWO DAYS

Atlanta Designated One of Chief Controls; Ships Will Be Here October 12 to 14.

Atlanta Wednesday was designated one of the chief controls of the annual Ford reliability tour when it was announced that the 35 planes, comprising the biggest aerial armada to make an extended tour, would arrive here at noon Saturday, October 12, and remain until early Monday morning, October 14.

Arrangements for the reception and entertainment of the nearly 200 pilots and passengers of the great air fleet will be discussed today by a committee appointed to assume charge of the welcome. This committee will meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the office of its chairman, Walter T. Candler, 20 Houston street.

Definite assurance that the tour planes would spend two days in Atlanta, one of the longest stops in the three weeks trip, was received by Mr. Candler Wednesday in a telegram from the planes over the week-end and Captain Ray Collins, general manager of the tour, who visited Atlanta last week with the pathfinding plane, piloted by Captain Frank Hawks.

"Atlanta is better equipped than any city in its section to care for we have decided to make our longest stop in the southeast here," Captain Collins informed Mr. Candler.

While here Captain Collins went over every inch of ground at Candler field and inspected the various equipment for repairs available there and after his inspection announced that he was satisfied Atlanta was well able to take care of the planes no matter what they might need.

Increases in Salaries.
Increases in the salaries of the prison commissioners, the director of the bureau of markets and the state auditor general were voted by the senatorial body. Senator King was the author of the measure to raise pay of the members of the prison commission. It would increase the present salary from $2,500 to $3,000 annually.

Increase of the market director's salary will not entail additional expense on the state, it was pointed out by the bureau of markets and not from a special appropriation. Senator Felix Williams' bill would raise the pay of

SNOOK, ON STAND, CLAIMS HE KILLED IN SELF DEFENSE

Professor Testifies Miss Hix Carried Revolver and Had Often Threatened His Life.

Columbus, Ohio, August 7.—(AP)—Dr. James H. Snook followed his wife and his aged mother to the witness stand today in his trial for first degree murder and related for the jury and a curious crowd of spectators an unfulfilled story of his illicit love affair with Miss Theora K. Hix, Ohio State university co-ed, whom he killed last June.

The former Ohio State veterinary professor occupied the stand most of the day under the steady gaze of some 300 persons who had battled their way into the courtroom.

At adjournment the defendant's account of his relationship with Miss Hix and the quarrel that ended in her death had not reached the point of an explanation of what occurred at the rifle range but he had laid the foundation for his plea of self-defense.

Indulged in Narcotics.
He testified that the young co-ed to whom he referred very formally as "Miss Hix" had induced him to take excitant narcotics with her and a few months before her death had become quarrelsome and disagreeable.

On several occasions she threatened to shoot him, he testified. At other times she angered him by mingling in his personal and business affairs and making threats against his wife and baby when he reprimanded her.

Twice during the last few months of their three-year affair Dr. Snook said he had observed his young paramour carrying in her purse the .41 caliber derringer he had given her nearly two years before.

The pistol will figure again in Dr. Snook's testimony. He claims the co-ed threatened him and reached for the pistol the night of his final visit to the rifle range and that he beat her and then cut her throat because he thought she was reaching for the gun.

Kisses His Wife.
As Dr. Snook entered the courtroom this morning Mrs. Helen M. Snook, his wife, and the mother of his 2-year-old baby girl, was seated at the defense counsel table, ready to testify in his behalf.

"I never did," she responded. Mrs. Snook testified that her husband's mental attitude had changed in SOVIET WARSHIP HOPS OFF FOR U. S.

Land of Soviets' Departs for Omst as First Stop; Four Pilots Handling Big Craft.

Moscow, August 8.—(Thursday.)—(United News.)—The big two-motored airplane, Land of Soviets, departed early today for Omst en route to New York by way of Alaska.

The plane, manned by four soviet fliers, left the military flying field at 2:50 a. m. (7:50 p. m., Wednesday, E. S. T.).

The departure for Omst, on the Irish river at the confluence of the Om river in Akmolins province, was delayed 50 minutes past the scheduled starting time due to last-minute preparations of the fliers.

As it happened, the four soviet aviators got away on their projected trip of some 12,400 miles only some four hours earlier than the German dirigible Graf Zeppelin was due to depart from Lakehurst, N. J., on its flight around the world. The dirigible will follow—in a general way—the soviet path of the Land of Soviets across Siberia and the Pacific ocean to America.

The distance from Moscow to Omst is about 3,500 miles, more than one-third of the flying distance to the Pacific coast of Siberia.

Killer Anxious for Friends To Be Present at Hanging

Miami, Fla., August 7.—(AP)—James Horace Alderman, sentenced to hang at Fort Lauderdale August 17 for the murder of two United States coast guardsmen and a secret service operative wants his friends to witness his execution.

Alderman told officers today that "it's my personal hanging and I want to invite my friends to it."

Two years ago today a coast guard patrol boat was captured by Alderman and Robert Wessch, about 35 miles off Fort Lauderdale and the guardsmen and secret service agent were killed in their attempt to recover their craft.

Alderman sat in his cell today reading the Bible, memorizing verses of Scripture and named a number of friends he wanted at the hanging.

The sheriff of Broward county, the deputy United States marshal, a civil engineer and a physician will be the only ones to witness the execution if an order of Judge Halsted L. Ritter, United States district court, is carried out.

"I want to have some of my friends there," Alderman said. "There are a number of church workers I would like to ask and the newspapers should be represented, for I want a true story to be published of the execution."

"My life has been a blank. I made money and wasted it. All I have now is a death sentence hanging over me and a broken-hearted family. I have not lost faith in God and He is with me. I will not weaken. The world should know of my life and the cross of my life and know also of my acceptance of Christianity. Those who are in crime should let this serve as a warning and accept the teachings of God."

R. A. Hendricks, Miami attorney, representing Alderman, failed today to obtain an order either denying or granting a petition for a writ of habeas corpus from Judge Ritter. He announced that he will present the petition again tomorrow morning.

Alderman said if no action is taken will leave later in the day for New Orleans to appear before the United States circuit court of appeals and ask a stay of execution until the writ can be heard.

GENERAL TAX BILL PASSED BY HOUSE

Defeat of Peterson Act Is Reconsidered and Measure Placed at Foot of Calendar.

After voting to reconsider its action in defeating the Peterson bill providing for a tax of two per cent on gross revenue of public utility companies, the house of representatives Wednesday afternoon took up and passed, with amendments, the general tax act without a dissenting vote.

It is expected that the measure as amended will produce additional revenue aggregating $400,000 annually. The bill now will go to the senate.

Amendments tacked to the bill provided a tax of $50 on each filling station in a chain over five in number; a tax of 10 cents a pound on malt syrups, a tax of $5 on each gasoline pump in filling stations not belonging to a chain and a tax of $25 on each truck and trailer in use for hire.

By voting to reconsider the Peterson bill, that measure will be placed at the foot of the calendar although an effort was made to have the rules committee set it for a special order Wednesday immediately after its reconsideration. The rules committee, however, has not acted on the motion to reconsider the bill.

The Peterson substitute is the measure which was defeated through a lack of two votes at the Tuesday session. The key gross income tax was defeated prior to consideration of the bill by 119 against the bill and 70 in favor of it.

As a special order for Thursday, the Culpepper classification tax bill

30,000 WITNESS DIRIGIBLE START ON EPOCHAL TRIP

Zeppelin Carries 22 Passengers on 5,000-Mile Hop to First Stop at Friedrichshafen.

United News Staff Correspondent.
Lakehurst, N. J., August 7.—The dirigible Graf Zeppelin, Germany's giant of the skies, soared away tonight on the first around-the-world argosy in aerial history by a lighter-than-air machine.

With a clear sky overhead, the dirigible, bearing 22 passengers, lifted gracefully from the naval air station field at 11:42 p. m., eastern standard time, and pointed her nose northwest for a 5,000-mile voyage to Friedrichshafen, the first stop in the world cruise.

A crowd of 30,000, part of which waited all day to witness the start of the epochal trip, roared a great farewell as the ground crew released the ropes that held the great craft to the earth.

The dirigible was about 800 feet high when it passed over the village of Lakehurst, where countless thousands have come throughout the week for one glimpse of the mighty air lines. As it sailed on, searchlights picked it out of the dark blue midnight sky and held it until it passed from view.

Flying rapidly, the great silver hulk faded in a few minutes to a small silver speck, disappearing into the northern horizon, and soon was lost to the crowd entirely, with only the five great motors still heard droning in the distance.

Eckener in Charge.
In the control cabin forward and just under the Zeppelin's blunt nose Dr. Hugo Eckener, master mariner of the air, stood by his wheels and levers. In his heart tonight Eckener knew he was embarking in a journey that would make or break his vision of regular commercial transportation in lighter-than-air craft established some day throughout the world.

This flight is the realization of his greatest dream. It is the first world air argosy ever embarked upon. Others have flown the world in planes, but the flight which started tonight is

1 DEAD, 1 DYING AFTER AUTO CRASH

Winder Man Killed as Machines Sideswipe on Atlanta-Winder Highway—Companion Hurt.

Madison, Ga., August 7.—(Special.) Henry English, of Winder, was almost instantly killed and Cecil Whiteley, also of Winder, was critically injured tonight at Rutledge, nine miles west of here when their automobile sideslipped the machine driven by John B. Little.

The English car was en route to Winder from Atlanta and the other automobile was going in the opposite direction. The automobile containing English and Whiteley was overturned and the former was almost instantly killed. Whiteley was rushed to a hospital here where his condition was said to be critical.

Neither Little, nor the other two occupants of his car, Mrs. M. C. Few and Miss Louise Few, of Madison, were injured.

ANONYMOUS PERSON GRADES FLAPPERS ON THEIR CONDUCT

New York, August 7.—(AP)—There's considerable feminine anguish along Park avenue because some anonymous arbiters has decided this season's debs to be "too good for the world," A. B. and C. according to general social fitness. Class, or Grade A, is described as "thoroughly nice, not a prude but a higher type of woman, well, has athletic proclivities but these not essential; talks well and fittingly to suit the occasion." Grade B has A's general appeal but is prone to be found in company or situations which—er—reflect slightly; and C just won't do.

COMMISSION RULES ON MERRITT TODAY

Four-Dollar Bandit Will Be Given Hearing in Plea for Freedom.

The life of Alvin E. Merritt, condemned North Side "fiend" hung in balance Wednesday as his lawyers and members of his family as well as the doomed man awaited the recommendation of the prison commission to Governor L. G. Hardman on his plea for executive clemency.

As Merritt was being taken by motor car to the state prison farm at Milledgeville where he is scheduled to be executed Friday, his lawyers, H. A. Allen, W. A. Covington, of Moultrie, and Clarence Minor, sought vainly to gain an audience with Governor Hardman. The governor announced that he would see the condemned man's lawyers today simultaneously with his receipt of the prison commission's recommendation.

Walks to Car. Though Merritt is said to have stated to his keepers in the Fulton tower during his long stay there that he would have to carry him to the car in which he was to be transferred to Milledgeville he walked without assistance Wednesday morning when a squad led by Deputy Sheriff R. T. Tubert came to his cell to take him away.

In the custody of Deputy Sheriffs R. T. Tubert and Charles Griffin Merritt made the long trip to Milledgeville by automobile. He left Atlanta at 3 o'clock in the morning and arrived at the state farm at 8 o'clock in the morning. Members of Merritt's family as well as his lawyers Wednesday said they had not given up the fight to save his life. Allen declared that he was hopeful of the prison commission's recommendation and indicated that should it prove unfavorable he

R. D. HAWKINS, RAIL HEAD AT WAYCROSS, DIES IN BALTIMORE

Waycross, Ga., August 7.—(Special.)—Word was received here today of the death in a Baltimore hospital of R. D. Hawkins, general superintendent of motive power for the Atlantic Coast Line with headquarters at Wilmington, N. C.

He would immediately file an extraordinary motion for a new trial.

Burns' Plea Ready. The prison commission will meet this morning to hear an application for freedom filed by Robert Elliott Burns, so-called $4 bandit, who is in the Throup county chancery. Burns was returned to the gaol recently after seven years of liberty following his escape from the Campbell county gaol.

During his years of liberty Burns established himself as an editor of a Chicago magazine and his brother, the Rev. Vincent G. Burns, of Fairdale, N. J., as well as Burns' counsel, William Schley Howard and John F. Echols, and a number of leading citizens will ask his release on the ground that his reformation is complete and the law vindicated.

The prison commission this morning also will hear the application for executive clemency filed by Fleming Reed, a negro, who also is scheduled to be executed at the state farm Friday.

It became known Wednesday that Malcolm Morrow and Homer Simpson, convicted slayers of C. A. Perry, Kingland banker, are living through a respite granted by Governor Hardman. The respite expires Friday and it will be necessary to re-sentence the two men before the death penalty may be exacted.

PLAYGROUND EXHIBIT PRIZES ANNOUNCED

Theater Parties Also Planned
by Mrs. Johnson, Park Supervisor.

Theater parties and cash prizes are to be awarded champions of the Atlanta playground system. It was announced Wednesday by Mrs. Chester Johnson, supervisor.

The courtesy has been extended by Lionel Keene, southern district manager of Loew's, Inc.

A cash prize of $5 in gold will be presented to the girl making the best art display by the L. W. Rogers Company and the A&P Company will give a similar prize to the boy making the best display of carving and technical arts.

Championship contests are exceedingly close and Mrs. Johnson predicted that even more interest will be displayed by contenders with the stimulus thus offered.

Attendance on Atlanta's playgrounds is the biggest in the annals of the city, and Mrs. Johnson and her assistants are exerting every effort to close the season with the same phenomenal success which has crowned their efforts thus far.

ELLENTON, FLA., BANK OPENS FOR BUSINESS

Tampa, Fla., August 7.—(Special.)—The Ellenton State bank of Ellenton, Fla., near Bradenton, opened for business yesterday, according to L. L. White, vice president and cashier, who is in personal charge. He said the institution was able and ready to pay all depositors.

Meanwhile E. P. Jackson, state bank examiner, announced audits of two more banks had been completed. They were the First Bank of Port Tampa City and the Citizens Bank of Oklawaha, Oklawaha, Fla. They could be reopened as soon as arrangements were confirmed by State Comptroller Ernest Ames, he added.

C. L. Knight, liquidator of the Citizens Bank & Trust Company, the largest financial house to close here, was authorized by Mr. Ames yesterday afternoon to take up his duties at once, although the audit of the books would require about three more weeks and plans for reopening would require at least a month's consideration.

Knight's appointment was made under the new banking law effective August 1, under which liquidators, instead of receivers, were to have charge of all closed banks thereafter.

DEPOSITS INCREASE AT THOMASVILLE

Thomasville, Ga., August 7.—(Special.)—Banks of Thomasville show greatly increased deposits, since the movement of the watermelon crop, and the opening of the local tobacco market. All these institutions in the county report business good, and agriculturists taking care of their notes, some of which were carried over from last summer, which was a bad season, due to damage from a West Indian storm here on August 14.

There has never been a bank failure in the town of Thomasville. The nearest approach to it was when the Oglethorpe Savings & Trust Company failed in 1921 in Savannah, and carried down with it a small branch banking agency it had operating here.

SECOND NEGRO SOUGHT IN ATTACK ON FOUR

Suspects Released as Examination Fails To Link Blacks
With Marietta Fray.

Marietta, Ga., August 7.—(Special.)—After releasing a number of negro suspects held in connection with the brutal attack early Tuesday morning at a Cobb county barbecue stand of W. G. Bailey and wife and their two young sons, county officers today were continuing a search for the companion of J. B. Freeman, negro attacker, who was left dead in the stand.

Doctors late today gave hope for the life of Mr. Bailey, most seriously injured of the four. It was said that he might return to consciousness Thursday and police hope he may be able to identify the second negro in the attack. Mrs. Bailey regained consciousness this morning, but was unable to give a coherent account of the affair, and doctors advised against extensive questioning because of her condition.

Laverne Bailey, 9, sustained a crushed skull, Hugh Don, 7, was injured about the head, not seriously, physicians say. According to the

Mr. Bailey was found lying on the ground about 50 yards back of the stand, where he is supposed to have lost consciousness in his effort to summon aid for his wounded wife and children after the attack.

SCHOOL TEXT BOOK MEASURE IS GIVEN TO SUB-COMMITTEE

Following an open hearing of prominent state educators and a closed debate which lasted more than an hour, the senate committee on education Wednesday afternoon referred the Beaton school book bill to a sub-committee for detailed consideration and perfection.

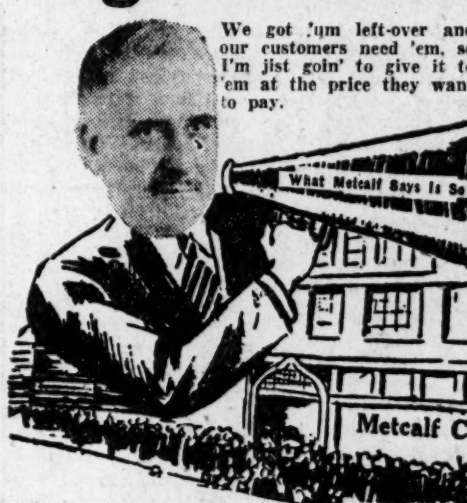

The Beaton measure, introduced by Representative Beaton, of Ware county, and his colleague, Representative Stanton, would create a state school text book commission with the power to secure copyrights of school books. It was passed last week by the house of representatives.

Representative Beaton himself appeared before the upper house committee to urge a favorable recommendation of the bill without amendments. The reference to a sub-committee was made following a lengthy executive session.

Members of the under committee are Senators Adams, Wright and Sibley. They were instructed to report back to the education committee next Monday.

METCALF puts all Summer Goods in a Big Rummage Sale!

On my way to New York I stopped off at Washington to find out more about this new money. I talked to a lot of fellows in the treasury dept. fore I found out who reduced the size of the paper money.

Now when I met "Uncle Andy" himself and saw the Scotch written all over his face I got the answer. And you know, folks, "Uncle Andy" don't even wear suspenders 'cause they GIVE. But I can't understand yet why thrifty guys (like Mac down at the City Hall) who've been spendin' the "big dollar" in my store is now spending the new "Scotch dollars."

I sure did think that some of those poor devils who didn't have a dollar would get hold of some of these new little dollars. But it looks like "Uncle Andy" done fixed it so this new money would go in the hands of the thrifty and the Scotch. And what I'm talkin' 'bout, "white folks," it's no one-gallows man's job to get the Jack away from 'em. But this Rummage Sale I'm puttin' on is makin' 'em let go of it.

Yours truly,
JOHN A. METCALF.

We got 'um left-over and our customers need 'em, so I'm jist givin' it to 'em at the price they want to pay.

WARRANT IS NEEDED FOR RAIDS ON CIDER

Doran Decision Outlines
Regulations in Investigations.

Washington, August 7.—(AP)—The rights of prohibition agents to investigate home manufacture of cider and fruit juices were defined today by Commissioner Doran, who instructed his agents that investigations in homes could be made only upon a bona fide search warrant. The order was issued, Doran explained, because the grape and cider season is approaching and he wanted the agents to understand thoroughly their legal rights so there will be no further confusion. Explaining that the prohibition act authorizes the manufacture of non-intoxicating cider and fruit juices in the home under certain conditions, Doran, in a circular letter to administrators and agents, instructed them not to interfere with such production except upon satisfactory evidence of unlawful sale. If satisfactory evidence is obtained, he added, entrance into homes "will be made only upon a bona fide search warrant." The letter said shipments of juice grapes, grape juice and concentrates for resale to be converted into vine-

County Merger Voted

Merger of Fulton and Campbell counties was approved by the state senate Wednesday. The plan was previously sanctioned by the house of representatives, but requires a vote of citizens in both counties before becoming effective. The combination would double the present area of Fulton county and add 12,000 population.

'I'M ALONE' ARBITER CHOSEN BY STIMSON

Washington, August 7.—(AP)—Justice Willis Van Devanter of the United States supreme court, has been designated by Secretary Stimson as the American member of the commission which will arbitrate the case of the sinking of the Canadian run-ner, I'm Alone, by the coast guard vessel, Dexter, last March, in the Gulf of Mexico.

The state department also announced tonight the appointment of George Wharton Pepper, former United States senator from Pennsylvania, as the agent to represent the United States before the commission.

The Canadian government has designated as its member of the commission Eugene Lafleur, K. C., of Montreal, and John E. Read, legal adviser of the Canadian department of external affairs, as agent. W. N. Tilley, K. C., of Toronto, and Alime Geoffroy, of Montreal, will serve with Mr. Read as Canadian counsels.

To Determine Place. The commissioners will determine the time and place of the hearings on the case.

The case was the subject of extensive diplomatic correspondence between the United States and Canada and arose out of the sinking of the schooner by the coast guard cutter several hundred miles off the Louisiana coast. On March 20, the I'm Alone was sighted by the coast guard vessel Wolcott in the Gulf of Mexico. After a two days chase the Wolcott was joined by the Dexter.

The latter vessel after overtaking the I'm Alone fired upon and sank the Canadian craft when her Captain John T. Randall refused to heave to. A seaman of the French nationality aboard the I'm Alone was drowned before he could be reached by the crew of the coast guard craft.

Several weeks later the Canadian government presented a protest on April 9 through Minister Massey to the state department. The protest declared the I'm Alone's sinking and the loss of the crew a flagrant violation in violation of the 1924 anti-run smuggling treaty between the United States and Great Britain and the coast guard adopted an extreme course in the firing on the run runner with the accompanying loss of life.

Sinking Justified. Secretary Stimson in reply to the protest said the American government held the view that the sinking was justified and in full accord with the law in view of the facts of the case.

The secretary suggested that the matter be submitted to arbitration as provided under the anti-run smuggling treaty and Canada accepted his proposal, particularly asking for arbitration of the controverted estimate of the position of the I'm Alone when first hailed by the coast guard vessel.

With a large proportion of the tobacco out of the way proper attention is now being given to the picking of the I'm Alone's sinking and the loss of the crew a flagrant violation

CHARGE OF MURDER IN DRY DEATH SEEN

Boat Owner Who Knocked
Prohi Agent in River
May Face Charges.

Detroit, August 7.—(AP)—With the discovery that Richard J. Sandlands, federal prohibition agent, whose body was found in the Detroit river this morning, died from a broken neck, murder charges against John M. Heath, elevator mechanic, appeared imminent tonight. Sandlands disappeared early Saturday while guarding Heath's motor boat, which had been seized for violation of navigation laws. Heath had not been apprehended late today.

An autopsy was performed by Dr. Frederick D. Newbarr, Wayne county medical examiner, assisted by Major H. E. Trimble, army surgeon stationed at the United States marine hospital here, representing the federal government. Marks of violence which might have been made by a heavy club were found on the head.

Heath's version of Sandlands' death, as told to Walter S. Petty, acting collector of customs by Mrs. Heath, does not account for the broken neck and marks on the head of the dead federal officer. Mrs. Heath said Sandlands boarded the motor boat and began searching it without identifying himself. Her husband struggled with Sandlands, she said, and they fell into the water. Heath swam back to the boat, and they left without again seeing Sandlands, she said.

Mystery Slaying.

Waycross, Ga., August 7.—(Special.)—The second killing in Brantley county in the past several months, occurred at Caney Bay several days ago when an unidentified negro was shot to death by an unknown assailant, who made good his escape before the arrival of Brantley county officers. Authorities report that they expect to make an arrest in connection with the case in the next few days.

Construction on New Railway Station Will Get Under Way In Two Weeks, Officials Say

Foundation Work Will Start as Soon as Pile Driving Machine Is Erected on Site.

Marking the first step in actual construction of the new Union passenger station will be the driving of foundation piles to begin two weeks from today, Harold W. Beers, vice president of the Southern Ferro Concrete Company, contractors for the station, announced Wednesday.

Following the award of the construction contract reported Tuesday, arrangements were made to ship to Atlanta the pile driving machine, which will lay the substructure support for the steel frame of the new $575,000 railway station, Mr. Beers stated. The machine is to be set up on the site as soon as it is brought here and the first phase of construction work will begin then.

Rapid Construction.
Construction of the building is to be carried on as rapidly as the carefully planned project will permit. Mr. Beers indicated, the date set for completion being March 31, 1936. Approximately 100 workmen will be kept on the job during the course of construction, the vice president of the contracting concern stated.

The depot is being built for the N. C. & St. L. railroad to supplant the old Union depot now located on the viaduct, between Pryor street and Central avenue. The projected structure will be situated on the west side of the Forsyth street viaduct. J. B. Hill, president of the N. C. & St. L. railroad, in telegraphic communication to Mayor L. N. Ragdale Wednesday promised to start on the new passenger station. President Hill's message cited the co-operation that has been given by local municipal authorities in granting permission for reconstruction of the north span of the Forsyth street viaduct to conform with the plans of the depot, and thanked the mayor for his aid in this direction.

Attractive Structure.
When completed the new passenger station is expected to be one of the most architecturally attractive public buildings in the city. Its exterior will be of limestone finish, while the project will be linked with an elaborate plaza and arcade entrance. The depot was designed and its construction will be supervised by McDonald & Co., engineers and architects.

The next step in construction following completion of the pile structure will be erection of the steel frame work, Mr. Beers stated. The form of the new station will not be recognizable to the lay public until after these phases of the work are concluded, it was pointed out.

JADWIN RETIRES FROM ARMY OFFICE

Washington, August 7.—(AP)—Edgar Jadwin, author of the Jadwin plan to control the mighty Mississippi, came to the end of his distinguished army career today, retiring as the only lieutenant general on either the retired or active list.

Back of him lies a record of outstanding achievements which brought honor from American, British, French and Polish governments, culminating in his appointment as chief of army engineers. He is 64 years old today and retires under the age provision of the army he served for 39 years.

His elevation to the rank of lieutenant general in retirement is a recognition of distinguished work in the construction of the Panama canal. He holds the distinguished service medal for his services as director of the division of construction of the American expeditionary forces in France and his efforts looking towards control of the Mississippi floods have kept his name fresh in the public memory in recent years.

After the 1927 flood he took full charge of the task of reconstruction. A mass of detail which had been gathered since the first levees and walls were built to keep the river within its control plan which bears his name, and the piloting this project through congress.

General Jadwin was born in Honesdale, Pa., and was educated at West Point in 1890. He immediately joined the engineers, and served in the Spanish-American War. He directed the enlargement of Ellis Island, New York, as an immigration station; the building of the San Pedro (Cal.) breakwater, and the reconstruction of the jetties at Galveston, Texas, after the storm of 1900.

He served as a member of the board which recommended the plan to rebuild the Muscle Shoals dam, and went to France in 1917 to command the Fifteenth engineers.

NAVY DIRIGIBLE TO BE GIVEN TEST SOON IS EXPECTED

Washington, August 7.—(AP)—The navy department was advised today that the metal-clad dirigible airship being built for it by the Aircraft Development Corporation, a subsidiary of the Detroit Aircraft Corporation, has been filled with helium and is ready for tests as soon as various adjustments are completed.

Officers had not set the date upon which the ship would be ready to fly but they believed the preparations might be completed within a few days if everything went smoothly.

The task of filling the hull with helium proved a difficult one because, unlike other rigid airships, it does not contain collapsible cells. The air contained in the hull had to be forced out by a heavy gas, which in turn was pushed from the hull by the injection of helium.

On test flights the airship is expected to be commanded by Captain W. E. Kepner, army balloon pilot who won last year's Gordon Bennett trophy race. He has been retained by the ship's builders.

The discussion for the afternoon was: "Some Things Atlanta Methodism Should Do."

The pastors' reports showed an advance over last year in every phase of church work. The sum of $3,062 was reported raised for world service. The evening sermon was preached by Rev. J. W. Queen.

Pittsburgh, Pa., August 7.—(AP)—Harry Richman, stage and film star, who recently announced his engagement to Clara Bow, actress, was made defendant here today in a $250,000 suit by Mrs. Ellen Franks, 21-year-old Pittsburgh night club entertainer, who alleged Richman drugged her and kept her prisoner in a Pullman compartment.

It was set forth in the statement that she was induced to enter the car by "subterfuge and trickery" and that the "defendant by force and arms wilfully and maliciously locked her in his compartment." It was further claimed that "by threats and bodily harm he rendered her helpless and helpless any escapeable of escape," and that injuries she suffered were permanent.

STRENGTHENING EFFECTS WERE JUST WONDERFUL

He Is More Active and Stronger in Every Way Since Taking Sargon, Declares Ford.

"In my opinion, the finest thing about this whole Sargon treatment is its remarkable strengthening effects."

"My hobby is working around the yard but for the past year I felt so weak and run down that I was unsteady on my feet, and just didn't want to be doing anything much. I am troubled with dizzy spells and was continually using laxatives for constipation, and my whole system was sluggish from an inactive liver."

"It was almost unbelievable the feeling of strength and energy that came over me when I began taking Sargon. I am on my fourth bottle now and am getting better and better all the time. I can feel the tingle of improved circulation all over my body. There is something about Sargon that seems to enrich the blood, and I feel so much more active and stronger since I started taking it."

"It is a real pleasure to recommend a medicine like Sargon and I can't say too much for it."

The above statement was made by James L. Ford, prominent citizen of Sacramento, Calif. He resides at 1605 Eighth St., that city.

The special Sargon representative at Jacobs' main store, 6 and 8 Marietta Sts., is personally meeting hundreds of people daily who call to learn first hand of its wonderful powers. Sargon may also be obtained at all Jacobs' drug stores throughout Atlanta.—(adv.)

FLIERS' RADIO CHANNEL ALLOCATIONS STUDIED

Army, Navy and Commercial Aviation Boards Work on Agreement.

Washington, August 7.—(AP)—Representatives of army, navy and commercial aviation and the federal radio commission today formulated a working agreement on the allocation of radio channels for the use of fliers.

The plan, which has been determined upon as a tentative operative arrangement for the present, was considered a basis for the future allocation of radio frequencies for aviation by the commission. Among the witnesses to appear before the commission was Herbert Hoover, Jr., who represented the Western Air Express.

Under the agreement the radio commission to guide aviators in flight will operate uniformly on a frequency of 375 kilocycles. Upon arrival at airports or landing fields planes will be directed by radio on a 278 kilocycle frequency. The international distress signal of aircraft will be 500 kilocycles, the same frequency as now used by ships.

Commissioner W. D. L. Starbuck, who presided at the hearing, said that after two minor matters were ironed out the agreement would be put into final form.

"I hope it will be a basis for our future guidance," he added.

The Rev. Russell K. Smith, chaplain, will pronounce the invocation; Mayor L. N. Ragdale will make a welcome address on behalf of the city; and Attorney General George M. Napier on behalf of the state. Colonel Andrews will respond to the addresses of welcome.

Other speakers will be: Joseph E. Pottle, of Milledgeville lodge, No. 774; David Shultz, of Daytona Beach, Fla.; Harold Cole, of St. Augustine, president of Florida Elks; and R. T. Williams, of LaGrange, president of the Georgia Elks' Association.

Neill Explains Benefits Of New Primary Measure

Return to the old principle of representative government is provided in the Neill bill passed Tuesday by the senate which brings about consolidation of the dates of the county and presidential primaries, W. Cecil Neill, president of the state senate said Wednesday.

"The bill insures full vote and the taking care of expenses for the presidential primaries," Mr. Neill said, "it also provides for the election by the people of each county their own delegate to the state presidential convention."

Date of Primary.
The bill definitely fixes the date of this primary quadrennially on the second Wednesday in May, in which the president of the United States is to be elected.

"Under the present plan of holding primaries on definite dates throughout the state there is no uniformity in the purging of registration lists," Senator Neill said. "A great many primaries are held without any purging of lists what, ver. This bill cures this defect by providing the closing of the lists on the first day of April, quadrennially, and provides that the registrars must complete the purging of the lists 10 days previous to the date of the primary on the second Wednesday in May."

"Another important feature of the bill," the senator added, "is the fixing of a certain definite date for the qualifications of candidates both in county primaries and in state primaries. In county primaries, which rule will also be applicable to candidates for delegates, the time of qualification is 12 o'clock noon of the second Wednesday in July with the bill as originally drawn, but with the senate amendment, the second Wednesday in June, which gives 60 days before the primary."

Reference Eliminated.
"All of the reference to primaries for state senator have been eliminated by the amendment of section 16, which renders unnecessary the adoption of the amendment offered in the committee."

YOUTHS TO FACE TRIAL ON CHARGE OF SLAYING BOY, 11

Bowling Green, Ky., August 7.—(AP)—Wesley Smith, 22, and Carl Smith, 12, will be given an examining trial here Friday on charges of the murder of Allan Hood, 11, whose body was recovered from the Barren river Monday.

The Hood boy's father swore out the warrants and the boys were given hearing at a court of inquiry today, but as both are deaf and dumb and there were no other witnesses efforts to get the full story of what happened when the boys were at the river Sunday could not be learned.

A physician said Hood had been struck on the head hard enough to be knocked unconscious.

PUBLISHER TAKES STAND IN $100,000 LIBEL ACTION

Sanford, Fla., August 7.—(AP)—Roland L. Dean, editor of the Sanford Herald, today took the stand as one of the final defense witnesses in the $100,000 libel suit of George A. Decotes, former city attorney, against the newspaper. While he was on the stand the defense began the reading of numerous news stories by which it proposed to prove the absence of malice in the publication of alleged libelous matter.

In an effort to impeach the testimony of L. R. Phillips, former city clerk, plaintiff counsel today drew from the witness the statement that on several occasions he had left certificates of indebtedness blanks, carrying his signature as city clerk and the seal of the city, with Forrest Lake and A. R. Key, convicted bankers, who were mayor and secretary of the city bond trustees, respectively.

Another important feature of the bill," the senator added, "is the fixing of a certain definite date for the qualifications of candidates both in county primaries and in state primaries. In county primaries, which rule will also be applicable to candidates for delegates, the time of qualification is 12 o'clock noon of the second Wednesday in July with the bill as originally drawn, but with the senate amendment, the second Wednesday in June, which gives 60 days before the primary."

C. E. Thomas Impeachment Charges To Be Heard Before Supreme Court in October

Inquiry Into Bank Closings at Birmingham Results in Indictment of 18 Persons.

Birmingham, Ala., August 7.—(AP)—Impeachment charges voted against C. E. Thomas, state superintendent of banks, by a Jefferson county grand jury following an investigation into the closing of four banks in the Birmingham district, will be heard by the supreme court of Alabama at its next regular session in October, it was announced here tonight.

In addition to the impeachment charges brought against the superintendent of banks he was indicted along with 17 others, most of whom were officials of the closed institutions. He appeared here today and posted bond of $500 after the capias charging him with conspiracy had been served by the sheriff's office. J. B. Lassiter, president of the City Bank & Trust Company and the Avondale Bank & Savings Company, who was indicted on 16 counts, was placed under bonds of $57,500. The bonds, ranging from $500 to $10,000, were for charges of forgery, perjury, embezzlement, false entries, selling unregistered stock, conspiracy, false pretense and acceptance of deposits in a bank he was alleged to have known to be insolvent.

Meanwhile, the sheriff's office served capias on eight other persons included in the indictments. They were B. T. Davis and E. G. Sims, officers of the Woodlawn Savings Bank, and F. E. Whitehead, W. O. Lawrence, J. M. Sorrell, B. E. Merrell and R. E. Lee, all directors of the Leeds State Bank. Service of capias on the remainder of persons indicted was expected to be completed tomorrow.

To Be Held in Fall.
Trials for the persons named in the indictments probably will be held during the fall term of the Jefferson county criminal court, courthouse officials announced.

Thomas today obtained an attachment against all stocks and other property of Lassiter, amounting to approximately $200,000. He declined to comment other than to say he was acting in the interest of depositors in the Avondale bank.

The grand jury report of its findings contained 19 specifications in connection with the charges against Thomas. Six articles of impeachment were placed against him in connection with the closing of the Woodlawn Savings Bank, the Leeds State Bank, the City Bank & Trust Company and the Avondale Bank & Savings Company.

In a preliminary statement today Thomas asserted that he was "ready any day to defend my record as superintendent of banks."

None Impeached.
State records since the War Between the States show that no state official has ever been impeached in Alabama. Seven sheriffs and five probate judges have been tried and acquitted on charges of impeachment. In 1925 a probate judge of Oneida county was tried and acquitted, the last case on record. A probate judge of Winston county was tried and convicted on charges of corruption in office in June, 1922.

Governor Bibb Graves, who appointed Thomas superintendent of banks, declined to make a statement at his office in the statehouse at Montgomery, as to what action, if any, he planned to take. Attaches of his office indicated the governor would make a statement when the charges have been formally brought to his attention.

The impeachment charges will be presented the supreme court by Attorney General Charles C. McCall, who assisted in presenting evidence to the grand jury.

Reward Starts Fly Hunt; Search Now for Reward

Orlando, Fla., August 7.—(AP)—J. H. Brower, St. Petersburg, hunted for some time for a real live Mediterranean fruit fly. His role as a fly hunter was spurred by rumors of a $1,000 reward offered by a private citizen for a live fly. On July 29 Brower's search was rewarded when he found a specimen upon a screen at his home.

Brower, however, is still hunting, this time for the rumored donor of the $1,000 reward.

At fruit fly eradication headquarters here today it was announced that Brower had sent his live specimen of the pest to district eradication officials at Clearwater, who in turn sent it, this time in alcohol, to Orlando. In both places it was positively identified as a Mediterranean fruit fly.

But at Orlando headquarters no information was available as to the $1,000 reward. Officials said that numerous reports of such proffered remuneration had been heard, but that in each case to date they had proved to be fabrication.

Eradication officials today were skeptical that the reported donor of the reward would be located, but in event he is they will verify Brower's claim.

LINER MAURETANIA IS DUE TO BREAK HER OWN RECORD

New York, August 7.—(AP)—The Cunard liner Mauretania, depoted queen of the seas, will have broken her own record for the westward crossing of the Atlantic when she arrives tomorrow, but radio advices from the ship indicated she will fall several hours behind the speed of the Bremen, new ocean champion.

Since leaving Cherbourg Saturday the Mauretania had steamed 2,541 miles at an average of 27 knots up to noon today. Bad weather has interfered with progress, however, and Captain McNeil said he would not reach quarantine until 11 a. m., one hour later than his original estimate. Thus the Mauretania will better her own record of 5 days 2 hours and 34 minutes, but will still be far behind the Bremen's run of 4 days 17 hours and 42 minutes.

MAN SLAYS SELF ON FATHER'S GRAVE NEAR AMERICUS

Americus, Ga., August 7.—(Special).—Believed to have shot himself to death on his father's grave, the body of Wallis Mott, former prominent resident of Americus, was found late this afternoon in Oak Grove cemetery, near here.

There were no eye-witnesses to the shooting and the coroner announced the day and the top figure was an even 30. A similar range is expected today.

The body was found lying across the mound of the father's grave and a pistol was clenched in one hand.

He was a former member of city council and had lived here for a number of years until the closing of his business in Americus, after which he moved to Valdosta.

USE OF AUTOMOBILES AS BATH HOUSES IS TOO REVEALING

Watch Hill, R. I., August 7.—The local improvement society has petitioned the town of Westerly to provide police service at nearby beaches to prevent the "weekly embarrassments" resulting from the use of automobiles as bath houses for disrobing. The amount of privacy afforded, the society holds, is often little more than the point of view.

CHARGES OF TINKHAM DENIED BY PICKETT

Says Methodist Board's Campaign Expenses Are Open for Inspection.

Washington, August 7.—(AP)—Deets Pickett, executive secretary of the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church, today denied the board had failed to submit its records to the department of justice in connection with charges by Representative Tinkham, republican, Massachusetts, that the board's expenditures in the last presidential campaign had not been reported.

Replying to Representative Tinkham, Pickett issued the following statement in reply:

"In a statement giving publicity through the Associated Press, Representative Tinkham, of Massachusetts, said: 'Dr. Clarence True Wilson, its (the board) general secretary and spokesman, is like Bishop Cannon (head of the social service board of the Methodist church, south) in that while protesting that many charges are unfounded and assailing me for preferring the charges, he has not offered to the department of justice the board's ledgers and records to prove his innocence.'

"This statement is in keeping with Mr. Tinkham's habit of making frequent reckless and unfounded charges. The board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church has publicly said it is ready to offer the department of justice every facility for investigation of its books and a thorough understanding of its activities. This assurance was some time ago given to the attorney general himself."

Representative Tinkham in his statement announced he had "suggested the propriety of a probe by the department of justice" of transactions by Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, in the presidential campaign.

Bishop Cannon, he charged, had failed to divulge the source of funds he loaned to the anti-Smith democrats in Virginia.

FIVE ALABAMA CONVICTS TAKEN BACK TO PRISON

Huntingdon, Tenn., August 7.—(AP)—Two Alabama prison officials left here late today with five men they had identified as escaped state convicts. The five were arrested after their automobile wrecked near here Monday night.

Frank Boswell, deputy warden of Kilby prison, left in an automobile carrying three of the prisoners. Traveling Sergeant O'Brien, of Speigner prison farm, where the men were held, took William Cooper, 28, and a prisoner named Cole, by train. Boswell told officers here he would stop at Memphis for the night. O'Brien intended to go to Nashville, and take a train for Alabama as soon as possible.

The acting sheriff here said all five admitted they were the convicts wanted by Boswell and O'Brien. Cooper and Cole were injured in the wreck which ended their try for freedom, and after the others were told that Cooper had revealed details of their flight, they also confessed.

The men with Boswell gave the names of Allen, Smith and Hopper. Officers here did not know their REPUTATION OR STAGNATION!

The people of Georgia must now look sharply to their honor and the sanctity of their moral obligations. The general assembly is putting both in imminent jeopardy. Unless a public devotion to justice and righteousness promptly demands that those elements of the state's honor and credit shall be preserved by the legislature that body will soon adjourn and leave the commonwealth in shame.

In no concern of the state is the insolvency and incompetency of the legislators more glaringly exhibited than in the mistreatment of the state highways department. The need for rapid and competent construction of a hard roads system in Georgia is felt by every progressive citizen of the state. But most of them are outside of the general assembly. The political football players who inhabit the halls of the house and the senate have "gone loco" in the matter of highways. The fact is undeniable.

At the outset ten years ago the legislature, following expert advice, enacted a statewide system of 5,500 miles of highways to be hard paved as rapidly and efficiently as practicable. The federal government had enacted aid for such systems in the several states with appropriations of federal funds.

The federal highway authorities accepted the Georgia state system as enacted and began to give funds to our highways board as it agreed to match them. That arrangement is considered a contract by the federal authorities.

The state board went to 92 counties of the state that were clamoring to it for roads and said "if you will use your own credit in bond issues and supply us with 25 per cent of the cost of your roads, we will, on the completion of this 5,500-mile system, repay your loans to us out of our funds."

The counties entered into that arrangement liberally and in good faith, supplying up to date more than $25,000,000 of the money that has been spent upon the state highways system. They rightfully expect the state highway board's obligation of honor to them to be met and discharged.

What has the legislature done to enable the road building to proceed and the moral obligations of the highways board to be honorably met?

It has just passed a house bill to add enough more miles to the system to make it measure 9,100 miles and provided as yet not a single dollar to build a mile more of the widely expanded system.

This unprecedented and wholly unnecessary increase in the mileage of the highway system involves a practical repudiation of the state's obligation to the 92 counties which have bonded themselves for highway purposes on the solemn assurance that they would be repaid upon the completion of the paving of 5,500 miles established as the basis upon which they contracted with the state.

By the proposed increase to 9,100 miles that measure will charge the highway board with a work that cannot be completed with its available means in the lifetime of another generation of Georgia.

The counties will be left without hope of reimbursement and face a stark repudiation of the state department's promise and obligation to them.

It is not asked that the schools be denied the fullest possible support, but their funds should be found elsewhere than in the funds that logically should go to the highways.

Give the board a 5-cents-per-gallon gasoline tax, all for road use, and it will build the roads rapidly, practically, economically, and at the same time amortize 1 cent of the gallon tax to reimburse the counties for their bond aid, advanced in solemn contract with the state.

That is a business proposition, and if something equivalent to it is not enacted by this general assembly, it is well understood that the chairman of the board will resign his commission and the state road system will be further confused and delayed.

Every proposed measure to rescue the state from the fate of repudiation or stagnation has been decisively defeated in one or the other house of the legislature. In their discussion gross obtuseness to constructive legislation and rank demagoguery have ruled every occasion. The character and honesty of the people of the state have been misrepresented and demeaned by those who were mistakenly trusted to represent and conserve those credentials of the commonwealth.

No appeal to meet and extinguish the deficit in the state's finances has met with favor, or even tolerance, in either body and here in the very shank of the biennial session there is pending no business-like measure to redeem the people's composite credit, to pay their abnormally delayed debts, and to establish a system of revenues and economics that will prevent the steady increase of the state's deficit.

The pathetic Confederate pensioners of Georgia are pleading hungrily and empty-handed at the doors of the legislature for their unpaid dues, but without sympathy or help on the inside of the chambers.

The thousands of unpaid school teachers are begging for their wages with which to pay their debts incurred to keep their bodies and spirits together while they served the children of the people; but they appeal to ears as deaf as the adders.

These emergencies are upon the people and they must command their legislators to meet them sanely to keep the state from facing its greatest shame.

CONSOLIDATING PRIMARIES.
The state senate has passed the bill by its president, Senator Neill, to reform the primary election system of the state.

The need to consolidate the county, state and presidential primaries has impressed the people strongly. The Constitution has frequently urged the principles of the measure carefully constructed by Senator Neill and approved by the senate.

It remains now for the house to recognize the need and urgency for this legislation and push it promptly to enactment.

The object is to consolidate the primaries, call out the fullest possible vote, and lessen the expenses to participants in the primary party nominations. It is distinctly in the interest of the man with limited campaign resources and will make for better democracy in our political methods.

It also happily will carry us back to the old-time state convention mode of expressing party sentiments as to policies and preferences among proposed candidates for the presidency.

The measure has every good reason to support it and there should be no controversy over making it a law of the state.

The opponents of the good roads bond issue have their noses in the mud instead of their ears to the ground.

Eastern professor advises his graduates to be snobs. This will give a new impetus to the face-lifting profession.

As long as sugar and gasoline holds out our law makers in Washington and in the states will have a source for increasing revenues.

A Christian Pipe.

His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, dispatches tell us, has joined an organization of pipe-smokers. This does not mean that he is to forsake the cigar altogether, but it's the logical consequence of a little incident back in 1917 when the prince was just plain Captain Windsor, in charge of the ration dump of the Third Canadian division at Beaulieu. We had just returned from leave, along with a dozen or so other men, and had landed at the ration dump to lay in a stock of what would be had prior to rejoining our units. The prince personally ordered an extra ration of cheese and the inevitable can of "plum and apple" for every man. While stuffing our knapsacks, German aviators appeared overhead and dropped some bombs. Everybody ran to the dugouts and shelters to await the passage of the aerial visitors, the prince included. We were supposed to stay hidden till the signal "all clear," would be given. Twenty minutes or half an hour must have elapsed, while we sat around there in a concrete shelter, the prince near the exit. Every man had a smoke. Sergeant Brown, a Canadian bushwacker, sat furthest from the entrance, giving vent to observations on airman in general. The conversation drifted to smoking. He could not understand, he said, how man could suck away at little paper bags filled with straw and worse. The prince turned around and remarked: "But Sergeant, I myself am smoking cigarettes." "I can see that," Sir, "came back Brown, and that's just what gets me. Why don't you smoke a pipe like a bloody Christian?" The prince must have taken the advice.

Prison Reform.

Life sentences are to lose much of their terror under the new prison reform innovations in Germany. Prisoners are to get a week's holiday, or even fourteen days, if their conduct warrants it. They may themselves choose the time for leaving jail, spreading out the time of freedom over a whole year, if desired. All crimes committed under the influence of certain states of mind definitely recognizable as pathological will be handled over for investigation to an institution whose governor is a doctor. Occupations will be given to the inmates according to expert medical opinion and the strictest investigation made into his heredity and status in the world of business. The single inmate will be performed entirely by men serving long terms in the prison theater. The plot dealt with the return of the prodigal to the native village after a number of years in a by no means model prison. The humor, dispatches say, as well as the pathos of the story, will be the chief attraction. The single inmate will be performed entirely by men serving long terms in the prison theater. Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

THE SAFE WAY TO CAN FOODS.

On impulse I was going to entitle this talk "The Peril of Home Canned Food," but on second thought—well, on a good second thought—these days—I concluded it would be unfair to give an impression that there is any risk involved in eating food canned in the home. I hope the title I have used will justify my conclusion. There may be unsafe ways to can things, for so there are, and it seems that the popular "cold pack" process is not so safe as other methods of canning.

Eleven outbreaks of botulism have occurred in the United States in the last six months, all from foods canned at home. Home canning was responsible, then, for 55 cases of botulism, 21 of which were fatal. It is a sad time that the home canner should become more canny about how she cans. Of course the 21 deaths she has caused by her canning are a comparatively small matter when one considers how many millions of people she has delighted and nourished—but why have a death rate from home canning, if it isn't necessary?

The fault in the cold pack process is that insufficient heat is used to destroy the botulinus bacillus or its deadly toxin, if perchance the food happens to contain it. If used with a fairly strong brine for non-acid fruits and vegetables, say as strong as 10 per cent salt water (a pound of salt in five quarts of water) or a pressure cooker rather than the open vessel, the temperature will be maintained for a sufficient time to insure the destruction of any spores of the botulinus bacillus that may be in the food. With vegetables or fruits are boiled in water in an open vessel or a pot which does not exclude air, it is impossible to raise the temperature appreciably above boiling point (212 degrees F.) and that will not certainly kill botulinus spores.

Rosenberg tells in his famous book "Preventive Medicine and Hygiene" (published by Appleton, New York) and probably available in your public library, how experiments in his laboratory proved that a temperature of 214 degrees F. must be maintained for 40 minutes, or a higher temperature for a shorter time, in order to kill botulinus spores.

Ordinary cooking will probably destroy the toxin or poison of botulinus bacilli, and therefore it is a safe guard against this poisoning to cook non-acid fruits or vegetables half an hour after they are taken from the can, when the food is home canned.

Acid fruits or vegetables are less favorable for the growth of botulinus bacilli and hence seldom if ever figure in these outbreaks of botulism.

Let the home canner remember that only by the use of a fairly strong brine, or a pressure cooker and cooking at least 40 minutes at a temperature of at least 221 degrees F., can the risk of botulism be certainly prevented.

Botulism probably causes more poisoning in horses, hunchback in dogs, and paralysis in domestic animals including dogs. The bacillus probably is a normal inhabitant of the intestinal

LOOKING AND LISTENING

BY SAM W. SMALL.

The Mania To Monkey With the Constitution for No Good Purpose.

When the famous State Senator Tom Grady, of New York, asked Governor Grover Cleveland "What is the constitution among friends?" he uttered a measure of highly questionable wisdom.

The Georgia general assembly is chuck full of the constitution. It is a constitution to them a "constitution" until changed or abolished by another tediously-wrought amendment? In that shape the legislature could make a pending gasoline tax injunction suit, so that some action might be taken while the assembly is in session.

Tabulated Resolutions. The resolution, which was eventually tabled and referred to a suit filed some time ago by the Wofford Oil Company, contesting the validity of the present allocation of the oil company's tax on the basis of the source of the oil, and enjoining the controller general from collecting any tax from the Wofford Company until settlement of the suit is reached, is the resolution that the result of the present allocation of the oil company's tax is a violation of the constitution and tended to impede legislative activities of the assembly.

A Missing Amendment. While the general assembly is musing itself with a box full of monkey amendments, there is one amendment which ought to be submitted to the people, but is missing from the roll-call.

That is an amendment to validate and assume the bond issues made by the state in aid of the construction of state highways. Those debts are, from every angle of moral vision, debts of the state. The people of the bonded counties should no longer be required to carry the principal and interest of bonds floated in aid of a state improvement.

As matters stand, the general assembly cannot vote one cent to reimburse those counties for money they furnished on faith to the state highways board. To do so would be to acknowledge that the legislature is a body of lawless men, and every legislator knows that. But they ought to submit to the people at the next election the honest proposition to take the state's debt on the table after the first adverse vote, but his motion was defeated by 97 to 62.

Boyskin Resolution.

The house adopted unanimously by rising vote another resolution by Representative Boyskin, conveying congratulations of the people of Georgia to the Controller-General, William A. Wright, who will complete 50 years of service in that office on September 17. The resolution also called attention to his war record and his military and naval service, and was eulogized from the floor by Representative Alexander DeKalb.

A third resolution, by Representative Boydell, Morgan, urged congress to appropriate $100,000,000 for aid of the nation's common schools, was voted down by acclamation, and the house adjourned. The governor is authorized to pay a $300 reward to the sheriff of Fannin county for the capture several years ago of a man wanted on a murder charge. The reward was offered by former Governor Clifford Walker, had lapsed at the end of his term of office.

Representative Dooly, was author of a resolution providing for a formal ceremony of acceptance of the children's college donated by the state of Georgia at the Alto Sanatorium. It was adopted unanimously.

Measures providing for the annexation of additional territory to the city of Atlanta including Hapeville, College Park and East Point with referendum votes provided in the referendum were introduced in the house Wednesday by Representative Luther Still of Fulton. Mr. Still announced that he would have a substitute measure to present to the house on Wednesday. He said he was introducing the measure so that they would be able to vote on it within the time limit permitted in connection with the advertising of local bills.

Dr. M. L. Duggan will present an appeal to members of the legislature Thursday asking them to pass some kind of revenue bill to provide for the common schools. He said according to present prospects the state will face a deficit of nearly $4,500,000 at the end of 1929.

In his open letter Dr. Duggan declares that only 14 days remain in the present session and asks for a definite action on revenue bills be taken by the legislature before the closing day.

Many Amendments. The general tax bill was called up and would be amended so as to conform to recent supreme court decisions covering occupational taxes. After the proper amendments had been made several amendments were adopted by overwhelming votes, these providing taxes on the filling stations, motor trucks, malt syrups and gasoline pumps.

Among the amendments defeated were a proposed levy of $5,000 to $10,000 a year on dealers in firearms and a tax on the value of notes held by automobile finance companies. An amendment proposing a tax on notes held by automobile finance companies was defeated by a vote of 97 to 62.

Two-Man Girl. "We are going to prove that Miss Hix was a two-man girl," Attorney Ricketts declared when Prosecutor Chester demanded the reason for bringing Meyers' name into the record. We believe that all three of them were sane. No sane person would ever enter into an arrangement such as existed between these men and this girl. Each of them knew that the other was intimate with the girl and by a sort of mutual understanding it was allowed to go on. The jury is entitled to the entire picture.

When the defense assumed Judge Henry L. Scarlett that the testimony would be used only to show that a mental breakdown in Dr. Snook dated from the time he met Miss Hix, he permitted the testimony to go into the record.

Then Dr. Snook testified that while he was on intimate terms with Miss Hix he had known that Meyers also was. His source of information, he said, was the girl herself. He met Meyers only once.

HOUSE OPENS GRIND ON GENERAL TAX BILL

will be taken under consideration. This bill provides for a classification of property for taxation, reduces the rate on real estate outside of incorporated cities from five mills to two mills and on real estate in cities from five mills to three mills. It provides, however, new taxes on various kinds of personal property including deposits in banks and money on hand and also bills and notes.

Before taking up the tax measure as unfinished business, the house devoted some time to consideration of a number of miscellaneous resolutions. The principal one, by Representative Boykin, Lincoln, requested the governor, under authority of the constitution, to call an attorney general appeal to the judge of the Fulton county superior court to set a date earlier than September 7 for the scheduled hearing of a pending gasoline tax injunction suit, so that some action might be taken while the assembly is in session.

Queen Victoria will not be characterized in George Arliss' talkie version of Diarrhi. While Arliss assumes the makeup of a famous statesman, the queen will be named "only one of respect to Britishers the world over."

It strikes me that this evening imitation would have been an asset to the film, as the English exhibit a fine sportsmanship at all times. And America has often been convinced by British comedy and British comedians.

Separate commissions were named to study the financial and financial sides of the discussions, a division which it was not necessary to make at the non-political Paris conference which was the first of the Young plan.

Philip Snowden, British chancellor of the exchequer, whose expression of his government's opposition to the reparations plan was the outstanding event of the first business session of the conference, emphasized the firmness of the British attitude in an interview with the press today.

Three Approve Plan. His interview, which also brought out British opposition to the present conception of the bank for international settlements evolved by the experts in Paris, significantly followed the speech by the Young plan by the French, Belgian and Italian delegates.

Henry Cherbon, French minister of finances, and Senator Mosconi, of Italy, both came to the defense of the present conception of the Young plan at the beginning of the session. M. Cherbon and Paul Hymans, Belgian minister of foreign affairs, declared there should be no tinkering with it because the plan represented the best compromise which could be hoped for to begin negotiations anew would simply postpone the final peace of Europe indefinitely.

Senator Mosconi, Premier Mussolini's speech to the Italian senate at the time it accepted the Young plan and added that the Italian distribution of annuities was Italy only her due. Mr. Snowden had particularly complained of the shares of German payments allotted to Italy, France and Belgium in his speech yesterday.

Reiterates Opposition. In his press interview today, Mr. Snowden reiterated his opposition to the distribution of reparations payments and his demand for a larger share for Great Britain and backed it up with an attack on particular features of the bank for international settlements which the Paris experts designed to handle the payments.

The British chancellor said that bankers of the London City, headquarters of British finance, had turned against the bank scheme inasmuch as it planned to buy and sell gold. British bankers feared that intervention of such a bank on the world market would intensify a general scramble for gold, which was contrary to British interests. They opposed giving it such a position.

Could the adoption of the Young plan be decided by a majority vote, it would have been adopted today. But since nothing can be decided at the conference except by unanimity, it was decided in the presence of the determined British opposition to name a committee to study the two principal aspects of the work.

One commission under Baron Houtart, Belgian minister of finances, will study the financial questions involved and the other, under Arthur Henderson, British foreign secretary, will consider the political consequences of adoption of the Young plan.

Financial Committee. The financial committee is composed of two delegates from each of the twelve countries represented at the conference. The political committee is made up of one delegate from each of the six major powers: Great Britain, France, Belgium, Italy, Japan, and Germany.

The political committee will deal with the extremely important questions of evacuation of the Rhine and the proposed "invisible" control of Germany to watch over armaments on the left bank of the Rhine. Germany took its position aside from the details of distribution of the reparations payments.

Foreign Minister Gustav Stresemann said the German government was ready to accept the Young plan as a basis for the settlement of the reparations problem. The German government, however, would not discuss, but he reserved the right to enter into the discussion of the consequences of the adoption of the plan when the time is ripe.

Speaks for Smaller Nations. Premier Venizelos, of Greece, Senator Henry B. O'Connell, of Virginia, and L. Sciarretto, of Romania, took the floor of the conference to call attention to the failure of the reparations annuities fixed in Paris to provide for adequate treatment of the smaller countries.

He made no attack on the Young plan, but suggested that if it were not to be altered there ought to be other ways of giving satisfaction to the lesser powers.

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

BY MOLLIE MERRICK

Special Dispatch to The Atlanta Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance.

Hollywood, Cal., August 7.—Earphone attachments being installed in leading talkie houses of movieland eliminate one of the most irritating handicaps audible films have possessed. Some 50 phones have been connected already. These seats will be reserved. Theater owners are awaiting the outcome anxiously. Bitter protestations have gone up from the deaf over the loss of one of their leading avenues of enjoyment. Perhaps earphones will solve the problem. They will for the majority, at an rate. And life, sad as it may seem, is conducted purely for the majority of humans and their desires.

Queen Victoria will not be characterized in George Arliss' talkie version of Diarrhi. While Arliss assumes the makeup of a famous statesman, the queen will be named "only one of respect to Britishers the world over."

vienna Segal will head the cast for the Hammerstein opera, "The Golden Dawn" being made in Hollywood. Noah Beery creeps into the list some where to represent the movie group.

Gloria Swanson's last appearance in the village for some weeks was at a recent opening when she started the colony with a wrap of magenta velvet. She has now gone to London to join the Marquis de la Palaise and to bow to Mayfair.

Kay Johnson's tall slenderness strikes a new note in movie mannequins—although this young actress is far from filling that tag. Her hipless silhouette has a rangy quality that has not been accustomed to. Our hearing is not so keen as it used to be, though Garbo, an outstanding figure, was the tallest girl in films for a long time.

Richmond Lusk brightened a recent makeup with a pale pink tulle and taffeta frock which had a tiny hip-coat of pink velvet edged all round with ermine. Bleece says all she needs is a little more dusting of "noix de coco," she created the old-fashioned Christmas card atmosphere so perfectly. Released by Paris, of course.

Every now and then an old-time movie actor displays an unusual amount of versatility. Comes word that Warner Oland—who, if I remember rightly, was in "The Perils of Pauline"—has been in the studio old days, has a splendid singing voice which will soon be heard.

Before his screen career Oland was in grand opera in Boston and New York. He would be quite a feat merely to survive so many and such rapidly changing working conditions and requirements. But to emerge with a negotiating singing and talking voice after all these years is a silent work is a veritable tour de force.

Young Reparations Plan Quickly Divides Nations At Hague Into 2 Camps

The Hague, August 7.—(P)—With the nations at The Hague conference for putting into effect the Young plan thrown into two camps by Great Britain's attack on the reparations settlement, the work of the conference was today divided into two sections in the interests of prudent diplomacy. The British attitude position a little apart from the argumentative allies.

Would-Be Stowaways Try for

Other Hunted.

Lakehurst, N. J., August 7.—(AP)—Three hours before the Graf Zeppelin was due to start on her world flight tonight two youths attempted to stow away. One was caught immediately and placed in the guard house, but the other is believed to have escaped. Cargo and food were being loaded into the ship through an opening in her side when the youths made their break. One managed to get through the cargo door and disappeared into the gloom of the ship's interior. The other, a dirty-faced boy in a red sweater, was caught at the food door and hustled away before his identity could be learned.

There have been stowaways on the last two ocean trips of the Graf Zeppelin and Dr. Hugo Eckener had decided that on this journey he would have no uninvited guests. Marines guarding the ship in the hangar were instructed to be especially careful. At the guard house the name of the stowaway in the red sweater was given as Martin Roth, 18 years old, of Trenton, N. J.

great adventure, it is likely the task of making his vision a reality will fall to younger hands.

Eckener realized all that tonight as he stood, legs spread, in the control cabin and gave the word:

"Let's go."

The great motors roared thanks to the navy. The boom of good weather forecasts was extended the Graf just before she sailed.

"The forecast is for generally fair weather off the coast from New York to the Grand Banks Thursday," the station meteorological officer announced. Indications are that conditions over the Atlantic are average to better than average. Winds will be southerly just east of the Grand Banks; southwesterly in mid-Atlantic; and northwesterly as the ship approaches Europe."

When next the famous dirigible crosses its Lakehurst, it will have traveled 22,000 miles over a trail which visits three continents and holds more than one peril for those who have entrusted to the 61-year-old gray-haired commander.

Yet Dr. Eckener is supremely confident that his ship can come through its greatest test with a performance that will eclipse anything it has done in the past. The route around the world will embrace but three scheduled stops—Friedrichshafen, Tokio and Los Angeles—and will lead over two oceans and the northern wastes of Siberia.

Russians Depart.

Tonight, while it started flying back to the old world, Russian aviators departed from Moscow, in the same direction and following much the same route as Graf will take.

Berlin, which had appeared on an earlier passenger list, also was dropped.

Four new names on the list were Schuetz, Schlatter, Hartman and Cooper.

Just an hour before the new list was given out, Dr. Eckener, the Graf's commander, had announced that 22 passengers would be accommodated on the flight tonight. Hamburg American line officials refused to comment upon the changes.

Lady Hay Leeds, Von Weigand, Commander Rosenbluth, Lieutenant Richardson and Wilkins have passage for the entire globe-trotting flight. The other 13 passengers, according to present plans, will leave the Graf at Friedrichshafen.

Section of the interior of the Graf showed one man on the cabin floor besides those included in the official list. The name was "Godfrey" and it was on the door of the cabin to be used by the Graf's commander. It would seem that Godfrey was but it was learned he was a passenger who in booking passage had stipulated that there be no announcement of his intention to make the trip.

There were two names written on doors of nine cabins. Lady Grace Drummond Hay as the only woman passenger having the tenth cabin to herself. This arrangement indicated that only one passenger would have to sleep in the aisle instead of the two Dr. Eckener had mentioned.

After the special train bringing the Zeppelin passengers from New York had arrived officials announced that the Godfrey whose name appeared on the cabin doors was H. A. Godfrey, of Brooklyn. The passengers scattered when they left the train and Godfrey could not be located, however.

William R. Leeds, son of the late "plate king," who took passage for the complete journey around the world, arrived in his special car with his wife, the former Princess Xenia, of Russia.

Late tonight it seemed practically certain that Rickard, the passenger from Boston, who had booked for the world flight, would not make the trip. The report was that he had signed for the trip in belief that he would be allowed to write for a Spanish news syndicate. News sought for the voyage, however, have been sold to an American news agency.

Just when it seemed most certain that Rickard would not go, however, a compromise of some sort was reached, and it was agreed that he would go as far as Friedrichshafen, though he would not continue on around the world.

Records of the past in globe-circling

New York, August 7.—(AP)—Impending take-off tonight on the morning of the German liner Graf Zeppelin on a round-the-world cruise recalled other famous circumnavigation of globe, beginning with Magellan in 1519.

Magellan took 1,033 days, or almost three years, for his epic journey. The fastest time was made by the United States army flier, who consumed only 15 days and 6 hours actual flying time, although they were gone 175 days in all. The Graf is expected to make the flight in some 15 days of flying time and some 60 days from Lakehurst to Lakehurst.

Round the world records:
Magellan (1519-22) 1,033 days.
Nelly Bly (1889) 72 days 6 hours 11 minutes.
George Francis Train (1890) 69 days 12 hours 3 minutes.
Charles Fitzmorris (1901) 60 days 13 hours 20 minutes.
Henry Frederick (1903) 54 days 7 hours 20 minutes.
Colonel Burnley Campbell (1907) 40 days 19 hours 36 minutes.
John Henry Mears (1913) 35 days 21 hours 35 minutes.
United States army flier (1924) 175 days (15 days 56 hours' flying time).
Evans-Wells (1925) 28 days 14 hours 36 minutes.

SCULPTOR AND WIFE
FACE BLACKMAIL PLOT

Washington, August 7.—(AP)—Clark Noble, sculptor, and his wife today were charged with conspiracy to blackmail in a warrant sworn out by a department of justice agent after complaints by Mrs. Cornelia B. Calhoun, attorney, officers of the Women's Universal Alliance.

Three other persons, Mrs. Anna M. Hillenbrand, a nurse; James F. Birch, attorney, and Stephen A. Armstrong, were also named in warrants charging conspiracy to blackmail.

Mrs. Calhoun said Noble had presented a bill for $50,000 in connection with a proposed memorial to mothers which was under consideration by the alliance. She declared no contract had been made with Noble and that she and her husband had been annoyed by persons claiming to represent Noble who tried to blackmail them into paying sums of money on his behalf.

ZEP STOW AWAY
SPENDS BIRTHDAY
IN JERSEY JAIL

Clouster City, N. J., August 7.—(AP)—Albert Buscho, disillusioned stowaway on the westward crossing of the Graf Zeppelin, today "celebrated" his eighteenth birthday in the detention house of the immigration bureau here, but found little joy in the event.

Buscho was less concerned about passing another milestone in his life than what awaits him when he returns to Germany on the Hamburg-American steamer Thuringia, leaving New York tomorrow.

Doctors met the boat at the dock. It is not believed any will die. The woman was said to be in the most serious condition.

Passenger on Graf Zeppelin MARION COOPER STARTED ADVENTURES IN THIS STATE Is Widely Known in Georgia

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Marion C. Cooper, author of "Chang" and "Grass" and a traveler of note, who at the last minute booked passage aboard the Graf Zeppelin in its round-the-world tour, is widely known in Georgia, where he began his career of adventure.

While en route from Minneapolis, Minn., where he had been employed as a cub reporter, to Jacksonville, Fla., the home of his parents, young Cooper, in 1916, was reading a newspaper board a train between Atlanta and Macon when he was attracted by a report of hostilities on the Mexican border. Subsequently he left the train at Macon and joined the Macon volunteers, being made a sergeant, and was dispatched to the border.

Thus began his career of adventure. General Walter Harris, commander of the Georgia troops, cited him as the best drilled soldier in his command.

With the opening of the World War he was "pre" a commission as a lieutenant in the regular army, but preferred to enter aviation, taking up training at the Georgia "ech aviation school in Atlanta.

His plane was shot down behind the German lines and he was taken prisoner, being listed as dead for several months.

After the armistice he joined a Polish aerial expedition which fed Warsaw from the air during that city's siege by the bolsheviks. For his daring and valor in this 50,000 Poles signed a scroll of thanks.

In recent years Mr. Cooper has engaged in writing and travel, several of his adventure stories having been shown on the screen. He is a personal friend of George M. Sparks, professor of journalism at Georgia Tech.

Zep Passenger
Wins Bet; Reaches
Chicago First

Chicago, August 7.—(AP)—Morris, passenger on the Graf Zeppelin, could hardly wait for the train which brought him from the east yesterday to stop. He jumped off, eluded reporters and hailed a taxi, at his office he met another squad of reporters, silenced them, called his stenographer and dictated a radiogram which read:

"I win."
Then, settling back with a satisfied smile, he explained. Over in Europe the other day Morris and his uncle, Ira Nelson Morris, made a bet. The elder man was sailing on the Homeric, young Morris on the Zeppelin, and the wager was on who would be at his desk in Chicago first.

GIRL HICCUGHS 58 DAYS, STILL IS GOING STRONG

Memphis, Tenn., August 7.—(AP)—Miss Vera Stone, 18, of Ripley, Tenn., completed her fifty-eighth day of hiccupping at a hospital here today.

Brought here several times for treatment, Miss Stone has found no relief and the nurse attending her said tonight that, while a new remedy was being tried, doctors offered no hope of an immediate cure.

Since her plight became known she has received hundreds of suggestions for curing hiccoughs. Those which seemed promising have been tried but none have effected even a partial cure.

The continued strain has weakened Miss Stone considerably. Her arms and hands are numb and her nurse said the case was becoming serious.

Miss Stone herself is cheerful about it and still hopes to recover.

"I've been with her ever since she's been here," the nurse said, "and I've never seen her cry."

CLAMS POISON
FIVE; BEDS PLACED UNDER QUARANTINE

San Francisco, August 7.—(AP)—With claim beds on the shores of Marin and Sonoma counties under strict quarantine ordered by the state department of public health, indications today were that five San Francisco residents stricken while eating toxic clams would recover.

Four other persons have died within the last week after eating clams or mussels gathered off the northern California coast.

While an outbreak of mussel poisoning occurred in July, 1927, this year was the first in which cases of clam poisoning have been observed by the state board of health.

Efforts to determine exact cause of the poison, which in 1927 afflicted 102 persons and killed 6, have not yet resulted in a definite diagnosis, but the research work done by the health department during the last two years indicated the poison is a result of an organic change influenced by fluid and spawning conditions of the mussels.

ASK BOND FOR DEPUTY IN PRISONER'S DEATH

Officer Tells Jury He Hit
Man With Blackjack in Self-Defense.

Waycross, Ga., August 7.—(Special.)—Efforts are being made to arrange bond for Jim Walker, deputy sheriff of Pierce county, who is held in jail at Blackshear under a charge of manslaughter, it was learned here today. Walker confessed having struck D. B. Howell, prisoner in the Pierce county jail, with a blackjack.

Sunday night, Howell was found dead in his cell Monday morning. Walker is a member of a well known Pierce county family, living at Patterson, 20 miles north of Waycross.

In a statement to a coroner's jury called to investigate the jail death, Walker said that he had gone to Howell's cell to quiet him, and that Howell advanced on him. He struck the prisoner twice with a blackjack, he told the jury, not with the intention of killing him but as a matter of self-defense.

$98,350 Permits.

Waycross, Ga., August 7.—(Special.)—During the first seven months of this year the building permits issued by Waycross have amounted to $98,350. Most of the permits were for new residences.

Indigestion

Immediate Relief!

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise. The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 30 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme. Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 30 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle in any drug store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips, since 1875—(adv.)

Money Saving Facts About Concrete Highway Pavements

Concrete is durable. It will not shove, roll or rut. It remains as true and even as built. Concrete pavement is now satisfying taxpayers in many counties and every state in the Union. Maintenance cost is low. It does not require periodic resurfacing. Wet or dry, concrete provides the safest surface for traffic. Oil drippings will not cause concrete to disintegrate. Concrete pavements are clean, smooth, dustless, free from stickiness and usable twelve months in the year. 8,850 miles of concrete pavement were placed on highways in the United States in 1928. Concrete gives you more road surface value for each dollar invested than any other type.

VICTOR L. BERGER DIES OF INJURIES

World Famous Socialist
Leader Experienced
Stormy Career.

Milwaukee, August 7.—(Special.)—Victor L. Berger, 60, former socialist congressman and leader of his party, died at a hospital here today. Death was due to injuries received July 16 when he was struck by a street car while leaving his newspaper office. His condition was at first critical, but later physicians pronounced him on the road to recovery. Last night he fell into a coma from which he did not regain consciousness and died after futile efforts had been made to save his life by the administration of oxygen.

At the bedside were his wife, Meta Berger, and daughters, Mrs. Colin G. Welles, Milwaukee, and Mrs. Jan Edelman. The latter rushed from Europe to be at the bedside of her father.

Stormy Career Ended. Death terminated the stormy career of an immigrant boy who rose to power in national politics. While his foreign birth prevented him from being the socialist nominee for president of the United States, he won the satisfaction of having for his pupil Eugene V. Debs, who was repeatedly chosen as the standard-bearer for the party. Victor Berger was born at Nieder, Austria-Hungary, February 28, 1869. After attending the universities of Budapest and Vienna he came to the United States in 1878. In 1880 he travelled westward and settled in Milwaukee as a teacher of German in the public schools. His rise to influence began in 1900 when he started an English weekly newspaper in Milwaukee. Ten years later he wielded a political power that was sufficient to send him to Washington as a congressman. He was re-elected to the 60th congress in 1918 and again in 1921, despite formidable opposition. Berger was the socialist party's first representative in congress. During the world war the publisher was attacked from every side for his opposition to America's entry. From 1917 to 1921 he was barred from using the mails and he was charged with disloyalty. Berger maintained his opposition to America's participation in the war but was not indicted by "pro-Germanism" but that the country's action was against his principles.

Re-elected to Congress. Feeling ran high against the congressman during those years and culminated in his sentence to 20 years in the penitentiary. Despite his indictment and sentence, his constituents re-elected him to congress with an increased plurality. The house of representatives refused him a seat, but he gained admission to the house when the supreme court reversed the sentence imposed by former Judge Kenesaw M. Landis and quashed all other indictments. At the time of his death Mr. Berger was publisher of the Milwaukee Leader. His first socialist daily was the Volkszeitung, published from 1890 to 1900.

U. S. SINISTER MOTIVES IN LOANS IS DENIED

University, Va., August 7.—(Special.)—The charge that United States has sinister motives in making loans to Latin-American republics was countered with the assertion that Latin-American republics often misuse these very loans, in debate today at the University of Virginia's Institute of Public Affairs.

The participants included several college professors, a retired rear-admiral, a judge and an editor. Asserting that political desires are breeding behind this country's ready offers of credit, Professor Victor Belau, of the University of Miami, a political exile from Peru, illustrated his contention with the United States' recent loan to Peru closely followed by a Peruvian-Columbian treaty. The treaty was opposed to the interests of Peru, he declared, and in his opinion, the United States' loan played a decisive role in causing the Peruvian government to consummate the negotiations.

Professor Clarence H. Haring, of Harvard university, leader of the discussion, arose to criticize the use by some nations of funds for purposes other than those for which they were borrowed. "For instance," he said, "there was a loan for twenty-five million to Brazil in 1922 for the electrification of the Central railway, all of which disappeared in meeting current expenses, moreover," he added, "loans to cover refunding operations are not always what they seem."

In regard to the Peruvian loan, he said, it should not be connected with the Colombian treaty in the absence of positive proof, which Professor Belau had said he did not have. Temperamental differences and fear of the United States' economic resources and supposed imperialistic ambitions were behind Latin-American distrust for the United States, he said, with European propaganda fanning the flame. Others who took part in the discussion were Jacinto Lopez, editor of La Reforma Social; Judge Herbert G. Cochran, of Norfolk, Va.; Carlos Eduardo Casteneda, representing the institute of inter-American of the University of Mexico; Rear Admiral Herman C. Stickley, United States navy (retired), and Professor William P. Maddox, of the University of Virginia.

Croker Battle Gets Consideration Of Florida Judge

Miami, Fla., August 7.—(Special.)—Judge Halsted L. Ritter, of the United States district court, today began consideration of the famous Croker case on which hinges the ownership of Palm Beach property valued at approximately $10,000,000. The legal battle between Bula Croker, youthful wife of the late Richard T. Croker, New York politician, and Croker's children began in 1920. Final testimony was taken here Monday and Tuesday with concluding arguments yesterday morning.

Mrs. Croker, formerly Bula Edmondson, of Oklahoma, was married to the late Tammany Hall chief in 1914 shortly after the death of his first wife. Croker's children, led by Richard T. Croker, Jr., began legal action before the death of their father in Ireland in 1922, seeking to obtain the management of their father's affairs from the wife's hands.

Doug Davis, T. A. T. division manager, will leave at 10 o'clock this morning for Wichita, Kan., where the Travel Air company will turn over to him a new factory-built special racing job made especially for the Cleveland national air races the latter part of this month.

Doug will fly one of the T. A. T. Candler field planes to Kansas, reaching Wichita about 3 o'clock this afternoon. A wire from the Travel Air factory Wednesday asked him to come at once to test the new ship to determine top speed and performance.

The plane, which still is a mystery even to Davis, will be entered in the free-for-all speed contest for any type of ship, equipped with any type of motor or motors. Supercharger, special fuel or any other means may be used to increase speed of the planes entered in this race, which will be 10 laps on a five-mile course. Prizes will total $1,500.

The factory has kept Doug in ignorance of what the Travel Air will do, what it is powered with or any other facts concerning it. He was only told that it was being built and that the factory wanted him to fly it in the national trials.

George A. Sherry and John F. Gill, T. A. T. pilots, also will be at been used as radiators to cool the engine while the plane is taxiing, this being the first American adoption of the method used by Great Britain in a modified form. The engine has undergone radical changes to reduce the frontal area and permit a better stream-lining of the fuselage. Fuelage, wings and tail members are constructed of wood and control surfaces of metal. The wing section employed is the "M-6," a double cambered airfoil developed by the national advisory committee for aeronautics.

INCOME TAX BILL VOTED BY SENATE

The adjutant general from $3,000 to $4,200. Lengthy debate over the criminal procedure bill was averted when the senate voted, 21-14, to table the measure and remove it from further consideration. The body had just previously reconsidered its action taken Tuesday when it voted to consider each section of the bill separately.

Long Discussion. Discussion of the bill, which was recommended by Governor Hardman's commission on crime, had already taken up more than two hours, with the first of the 10 sections not yet voted on. Detailed consideration of the bill was urged by Senators Wright and Matthews, who introduced the bill in the senate. One motion to table was made immediately on opening of discussion of the bill Wednesday morning but was defeated by a 25-17 vote.

The recently introduced measure of Senator Emmett Williams authorizing the federal government to acquire lands in the region of the Okefenokee swamp was passed by the senate without opposition.

Thursday's session of the upper house will most likely see debate on the proposed constitutional amendment which would allow citizens to vote upon payment of poll taxes only. The measure was scheduled on the calendar for Wednesday but was not reached in the press of business. The session Thursday will convene at 9 o'clock.

HASSELL TO TRY TO BLAZE TRAIL CHICAGO TO EUROPE

Rockford, Ill., August 7.—(Special.)—Bert Hassell, who last year attempted a Rockford-to-Stockholm airplane flight with Parker D. Cramer, announced today that he will attempt this month to blaze a new air mail route to Europe from Chicago, via Greenland and Iceland. Hassell said he would be accompanied by Leonard H. Fredericks, pilot, and a marine navigator, possibly a navigation officer of the U. S. S. Levantham. The plane, an amphibian, is being made in Cleveland. No attempt will be made to achieve a speedy crossing, Hassell declared. Hassell's flight last year with Cramer in the monoplane Greater Rockford ended in the icy interior of Greenland, when the craft was forced down by lack of fuel.

Constipation and Biliousness Cause High Blood Pressure

If Alertox Fails—

High blood pressure is both functional and organic, often produced by over-eating or mental strain, while constipation and biliousness are underlying causes. In either case, Alertox, a new chemical discovery, through a process of elimination, thoroughly cleanses the system of its impurities and tends to reduce pressure in the veins and arteries by carrying out, through the intestinal tract, excess water in the system which the sweat glands have failed to secrete.

After the first dose or two of Alertox you note a decided improvement in reduced blood pressure, also in your general health, because Alertox removes, in one action, more poison bile than any other known formula, leaving you buoyant, vigorous and alert. ALERTOX

FOR GREATER SERVICE TO A GREATER NUMBER

THE FORD MOTOR COMPANY was formed, and exists today, not merely to make automobiles but to bring the benefits of quick, efficient transportation within reach of every one.

Because of this larger purpose, and in furtherance of it, the policy of the Ford Motor Company has always been to keep the price as low as possible—so that more and more people, in all walks of life, might be enabled to purchase a motor car.

Consistently through the years the savings resulting from new manufacturing methods and new production economies have been passed on in increased value and lower prices to those who buy the car, and in higher wages to those who make it. In 1909 and 1910, for example, the Ford car sold for $950. Today, with all its improvements and new beauty of line and color, the price of the Ford car, taking the average of the various body types, is but little more than half of that.

In a very real and definite way, the public has always been considered a partner in the Ford Industries. We never forget that the people who have made this business a big business are the people who buy the products we manufacture and offer for sale. Often we have reduced prices to a point where no profit was visible and then forced ourselves to find ways and means of reducing costs in order to earn a profit.

SINCE this policy is fundamental to the Ford organization, it applies also to those other means of transportation which have been developed to meet a present need or an anticipated future. In this spirit of service, the manufacture of airplanes was started some years ago and carried forward as a contribution to the public and to the nation. Costs decreased as production increased, and a little while ago it was possible to reduce the price of the Ford all-metal airplane as much as $10,000. Thus the way was opened for a further development and extension of the pioneering air lines of this country.

Today it is possible to announce a further expression of this basic Ford policy in a series of important reductions in the price of the Lincoln motor car.

In taking over the Lincoln Motor Company some years ago, it was our purpose to build a car of surpassing beauty and performance—a car that might in truth be called "as nearly perfect a motor car as it is possible to produce."

For some time it was impossible to make a car to meet these specifications at the price previously asked, and the price was raised, therefore, to compensate for the increased value that was built into the car.

SALES increased as the public grew to know and understand this value, and with increased production came again the opportunity to effect substantial savings in cost. In accordance with the fundamental Ford policy, the benefits of these savings are now passed on to the purchaser.

These price reductions, ranging as high as $650, are on established Lincoln body types and are not in anticipation of a change in model. It has been the Lincoln policy over a period of years to refrain from annual model changes or sharp deviations in design, believing that the interests of the purchaser might best be served in this way.

Improvements in the car are made progressively as these improvements are worked out in the engineering laboratory and fully tested in actual practice. New bodies by the foremost custom body designers are added whenever the designs submitted are considered of sufficient worth and character to warrant their approval and adoption for a car of this type.

Because of this policy, the new bodies flow naturally into the line and are not identified in the public's mind with any particular time or season, protecting the owner against periodic depreciation.

THUS has come that reputation for stability of performance, of body lines, of investment, which is so important a part of the purchase of the Lincoln.

Seeing it gliding along the avenue or standing at rest before some honored door, you sense a sincerity of design and construction which sets it apart, a little, in your mind and causes you to remember and recall its image long after the more immediate concerns of the day are disposed of and forgotten.

It is hoped, through reductions such as those announced here, to extend the circle of those whose income permits the ownership of such a car.

ATLANTA SPOT COTTON

Atlanta spot cotton closed quiet, 10 points down at 18.90. Sales, 400; receipts, 226; shipments, 35; stocks, 7,058.

New York, August 7.—(AP)—A more or less general disposition to await publication of the government's crop report tomorrow, was reflected by a continued quiet business and comparatively narrow price movements in the cotton market again today. Slight opening advances were followed by declines but after a lull in trading to 19.11, December rallied to yesterday's closing quotation, and closed at 19.10. The general market closed very steady, net unchanged to 3 points lower.

The opening was steady at a decline of 22 points on May but generally 1 to 6 points higher, with the more active months showing net gains of 2 to 8 points during the early trading on trade buying and covering. The latter was promoted by continued talk of hot weather in the southwest and relatively steady Liverpool cables. The advance met pre-bureau speculation or realization, however, and offerings increased after the publication of the weekly report of the weather bureau which evidently read more favorably to the crop than anticipated by recent buyers. October sold off from 19.03 to 18.90, while March declined from 19.40 to 19.28, making net losses of about 7 to 9 points in the early trading. The selling then tapered off and the market steadied up later in the afternoon.

At times further liquidation which at times seemed in fair volume was absorbed by continued covering which appeared to be combined with some trade and Wall Street buying. The foregoing was shown just about recovered with October closing at 18.91 and March at 19.36.

Two more private crop reports were issued, one of them placing the condition of the crop in the early trading figures ranging from 68.1 up to 73.1 and the private crop indications have been ranged from 13,450,000 up to 15,410,000 bales. On the average private condition figures point to about 70.0 and to a crop indication of about 13,450,000 bales.

Liverpool cables said there had been some improvement in the cotton market influenced by reports of drought in Texas.

Port receipts today 8,203. United States port stocks 521,471. Exports today 2,534, making 43,099 so far this season.

TRADING QUIET AT NEW ORLEANS.

With the government crop report due tomorrow there was little incentive to trade in the cotton market today, operators seeming disposed to hold off until after the figures are known. Some buying in early trading cut the price up 7 to 9 points but the improvement met selling on the favorable weather and summary and October sold down from 18.88 to 18.75. The option closed at 18.79, or 2 points net lower with the general market closing steady net 1 point up to 2 down.

Liverpool cables were favorable and induced an opening advance here of 4 to 5 points. The market continued to advance after the start on buying induced by the favorable weather and reports to show any rain in the drought-stricken sections of Texas. October sold up to 18.88 and December to 19.00, or 7 to 9 points net up.

The weather map, however, showed a rainfall of three inches in the Texas Panhandle and the market started on the downgrade, the decline gaining momentum later when the weather was favorable to the early trading and the market recovered nearly half the loss, December closing at 19.01, or 1 point net up.

Receipts, 6,828; for week, 31,468; for year, 40,629; last year, 19,097. Exports, 2,534; for week, 17,201; for year, 40,100; last year, 45,257. Stocks, 525,007; last year, 363,741. Stock on shipboard, 19,230; last year, 34,450. Spot sales, 3,777; last year, 7,239.

New York, August 7.—(AP)—Price trends were highly erratic in a dull session of the stock market today.

Further liquidation of the utility shares carried prices off sharply in the early trading. Call money dropped from a renewal rate of 10 to 8 per cent in the early afternoon. Powerful support came into the market for a time, centering in the steel and rail, but the entire list turned heavy in the last half hour of trading.

Uneasiness over the credit outlook was held primary responsibility for gyrations of the market. The ease in call money was accompanied by private advice from London that the Bank of England probably would not raise its discount rate this week. These developments were not, however, on second thought, very convincing.

Over the course of the day, however, as time went by, the market threatened to go higher, and bankers predicted that if the Bank of England did not raise its rate this week, it must do so shortly.

Report that the federal reserve board was meeting in Washington to discuss the possibility of raising the discount rate caused speculation as to how the system will put forth credit to help the government. The system's announcement as to what was discussed at the meeting, but Wall Street was inclined to believe the matter of aid—under consideration. The market was not expected, however, to release securities markets to any extent.

The day's industrial news generally favorable. Car loadings for the high record for the year. Most new ings and sales reported coming to hand continued to make excellent showings compared to last year. A sharp drop in the price of steel, however, other return in crude oil production, coming at a time of easing gasoline prices.

The violence of the recent upswing in the utility stocks made holders of these shares particularly uneasy, especially since the break in the Inland Empire and the Chicago market. Many dumped their shares on the market for what they would bring. Laclede Gas advanced 10 points, but the market was not expected to release securities markets to any extent.

The commodity markets were steady to firm, wheat rallying about 10 points, but the market was not expected to release securities markets to any extent.

Foreign exchanges were irregular. The Japanese yen continued to improve, reaching another new high for 1929, while the pound and the guinea fell to new lows for the year, the latter approaching the incoming gold point.

Evening of Music Arranged By Army Talent at Post Chapel

Fort McPherson, Ga., August 7.—The music lovers of the military contingent will be especially interested in the evening of music arranged by Major Walter F. Macklin, to take place at the post chapel tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. A number of talented musicians are to be found among the garrison personnel and the program will include vocal selections as well as instrumental. Major Macklin, who is a violinist of real merit, will play a number of selections, one being the beautiful but difficult "Le Canarie," by S. Pollini. Another number of interest will be the group of songs by Mrs. J. Vincent Falisi, the charming wife of Major Falisi, who has recently arrived at the post for station. Both Major and Mrs. Falisi possess musical ability for Major Falisi is a composer and Mrs. Falisi has a beautiful lyric soprano voice. Two of the songs she has selected for Thursday evening were composed by her husband, one entitled "Sweetheart," and the other "A Pale Light." Those numbers were written by Major Falisi during his stay abroad when he was on duty with the American forces in France. Another selection of Mrs. Falisi is "The Quest," by Smith, and an Abraham song, "Fulfillment." Mrs. Falisi will be accompanied by Major Falisi.

A piano solo will be rendered by Miss Katherine Ripley, who is the talented daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Ripley. Ashley Ripley, Miss Ripley will play "Ventrone," a charmingly arranged selection by Godard. Miss Ripley's father, Colonel Ripley, will also contribute a notable number for he has selected "Salut d'Amour" as a violin presentation by Elger. Colonel Ripley will be accompanied by Miss Ripley. Mrs. T. M. Cornell, who is a recent attractive addition to garrison circles, will present a group of songs, one of which will be "The Butterfly." Mrs. Cornell has a rich mezzo soprano voice and her numbers will be an appreciated addition to the program. Lieutenant Edward McDaniell will also contribute two enjoyable numbers as vocal solos. This evening of music is the first of a series of delightful similar occasions to take place during the fall and winter months at the garrison.

A brilliant affair of this afternoon was the tea-dance given by Major and Mrs. Carl H. Seals at the Officers' Club at the garrison in honor of three attractive army couples. Major General Richmond Pearson Davis and Mrs. Davis, Captain Ralph E. Powell and Mrs. Powell, and Lieutenant Gilbert Foster and Mrs. Foster. The clubrooms were artistically decorated with potted plants and vases and jars of garden flowers in pastel shades were used on the main and small tables. The tea table which was covered with an exquisite cloth, was centered with a bowl of dahlias and centers of pale shades of pink and yellow. Tall green tapers in graceful old candelabras were placed at either end of the long table. Mrs. Abraham E. Lott, Mrs. Henry Ashley Ripley, Mrs. Lochlin W. Caffey and Mrs. I. M. Cheston were invited to preside at the tea table, while a number of the most attractive members of the younger set, including Miss Helen Bach, Miss Catharine Foster, Miss Katherine Ripley, Miss Dorothy Bobbitt, Miss Patrice Donahue, Miss Marjorie Ripley, Miss Bernice Fiske, Miss Beatrice Brownell, Miss Mary Bach, Miss Doris Macklin and Miss Dorothy Holliday, assisted in serving the guests. Dancing was enjoyed from 7 to 7 o'clock by the 150 guests invited for the occasion.

Little Miss Martha Procter entertained at an afternoon party at her quarters in the garrison yesterday in celebration of her seventh birthday. The small guests enjoyed a fish pond from which clever favors were drawn, and several contests, the winner of which received a prize, proved interesting. Assisting Martha in receiving her guests were Mrs. Procter, Miss Marjorie Ripley, Miss Helen Bach and Miss Mary Bach. The guests, including the sub-junior set of the garrison, were Miss Mary Dismore, Miss Harriet Ramsey, Miss Lenora Gaugler, Miss Barbara Ann Ramsey, Miss Yancy Ann Gaugler, Miss Mildred Woodard, Miss Gentry Joffe, Miss Jean Parsons, Miss Diane Monger, Billy Sharp, Donnie Cornell and Peter Drummond.

Paula Boyd, from Washington, D. C., is the guest of Miss Margaret Hall at her quarters at the garrison. Another guest is Griddle Hall, also from Washington, who is visiting John Hall.

Miss Helen Caffey is spending a fortnight in the mountains of North Carolina while Colonel and Mrs. Lochline W. Caffey are the guests of their son and daughter, Lieutenant and Mrs. E. M. Caffey, at Fort Humphreys, Virginia.

Tuesday afternoon a group of the sub-junior set of the garrison, including Miss Mildred Woodard, Miss Polly Abraham, Miss Mary Dismore, Miss Yancy Ann Gaugler and Miss Lenora Gaugler, presented a program of songs and dances at the quarters of Major and Mrs. Ripley. Miss Woodard in a blue silk costume with her lovely hair tumbling about her shoulders and carrying a Japanese dagger was a graceful tight-rope performer, while Miss Gaugler, in a quaint old-fashioned costume made with tight bodice and full skirt with lace-trimmed pantalettes, presented a charming little dance suggestive of the minuets and polkas of yesteryear. Miss Dismore, in a colorful pajama suit with scarlet head band, executed a difficult tap dance with decided skill, and Miss Abraham was a demure maiden in white when she recited the well loved "I Have a Little Shadow." Another attractive number was the song and dance given by Miss Abraham and Miss Dismore, the song "That Precious Little Thing Called Love," as well as the dance, including the difficult cartwheel, receiving hearty applause. Miss Gaugler presented an original sketch in her impersonation of Betty Compson in the brilliant play, "On With the Show," while winsome Miss Lenora Gaugler was a graceful little person in her dance, appearing in a costume of pale pink satin and tulle. The guests for this occasion included representative members of both the senior and junior members of garrison society.

Miss Catharine Foster will entertain at a luncheon Friday in honor of Miss Katherine Ripley, a bride-elect of September. During the luncheon hours games of bridge will be enjoyed, followed by the daintily appointed luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Noble Are Honor Guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Coughy B. Culpeper entertained Monday evening at bridge in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sidney Noble, of Flushing, Long Island, who are the guests of Mrs. Noble's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Willingham in Inman park.

Gifts of handwork and cigarettes were presented to the honor guests, while top prizes were won by Mrs. A. McCurry and Fred N. Willingham. Mrs. Walter Pangborn and Henry Maddux were awarded consolation prizes.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sidney Noble, Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Shearin, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Maddux, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. McCurry, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Cornell, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pangborn, Mr. and Mrs. Fred N. Willingham, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bryan Willingham, Miss Mildred Russell, Bernard Willingham and Mr. and Mrs. Coughy B. Culpeper.

Next Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Shearin will entertain at bridge for Mr. and Mrs. Noble.

Before Baby Comes
Comfort and ease for the expectant mother
UNLESS the muscles, tissues and nerves "give" easily from the abdomen enlarges, much pain and suffering may result. As the abdomen increases in size strains increase in intensity, exhausting the expectant mother with perhaps ill effects upon the unborn child. More important still, it is to have the tissues and muscles as "elastic" as possible when the great moment of childbirth arrives. Countless thousands of expectant mothers for over 60 years have used "Mother's Friend"—that time-tested, scientifically prepared skin lubricant and pain-reliever, which originated in the prescription of an eminent obstetrician—and have been relieved of strains and the pain, the discomfort and the nervousness that come from the distention and the stretching of the skin and tissues, which attend this delicate condition.

You owe yourself the comfort "Mother's Friend" can give you. It is a soothing, relaxing, comforting! It is not a drug to be taken. It is used externally only—gently rubbed into the skin. Clean and pleasant to the touch. Brings relief promptly. Very valuable in keeping the skin supple and the tissues elastic. Puts you in fine shape for the approaching ordeal. "Mother's Friend" is on sale at all drug stores. $1.25 per bottle.

A massage with it tonight will relieve your strained condition.

"Things to Know Before Baby Comes" will be mailed in plain envelope, free, on request. Address: Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. D, Atlanta, Ga.

WE WENT TO THE JUDGE'S HOUSE WHEN WE GOT THERE IT WAS DARK. I SAW SOMETHING THAT RAN CROUCHING. I THOUGHT IT WAS A DOG, BUT IT WASN'T. IT WAS THAT FUNNY LITTLE MAN, WHOM WE HAD SEEN IN MY CANOE.

HE WAS SEARCHING AROUND IN THE GRASS UNDER A WINDOW, LIKE HE WAS LOOKING FOR SOMETHING. I REMEMBERED THE LITTLE STATUE AND I PULLED IT OUT OF MY POCKET. I RAN UP TO HIM. "DID YOU LOSE THIS?" I ASKED.

WE GAVE A YELL AND GRABBED IT OUT OF MY HAND AND RAN. WE KNEW HE HAD A GUN. SO WE DIDN'T FOLLOW. DOC WATER'S CAME OUT AND WE TOLD HIM WHAT HAPPENED. "HE'S THE MAN WE WANT!" SAID DOC. GIVE TIL TOMORROW.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

Cubby Forgets All About Honey.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

Pleasures all too soon are past; Sweetness will but seldom last.

Cubby Bear had his hands full. Perhaps I should say his paws full. He hadn't supposed there were so many bees in all the great world. The worst of it was he could only fight them with one paw, and he couldn't do that and run open the tree to get the honey. And such an angry humming as those bees kept up! They formed a black cloud around his head. They crept down into the fur of his throat. And each one of those bees was armed with a sharp sting. Do you wonder that Cubby whimpered and whined and snarled and growled? He would look his claws into the edge of the little hole where the bees went in and out and try to tear out a piece of the wood.

Between the bees and the honey his attention was wholly occupied. So it was that he didn't hear the crashing of some big person hurrying through the Green Forest. He neither heard nor saw big Buster Bear as the latter arrived under the big tree. He was too much occupied. He didn't even hear the whining "Wood! Wood!" of Buster's. So far as Cubby was concerned, he and those angry bees were all alone in the great world.

It was just as Cubby at last pulled away a big enough piece of wood to thrust his paw in and pull out a piece of the comb dripping with honey that he heard an angry growl so close to him that it made the hair on the back of his neck stand right up with fright. He actually dropped that piece of honeycomb as he looked down. There, right under him, almost within reach, was Buster Bear. "Cubby forgot the honey and the bees. What was he to do? He couldn't go down, because there was Buster Bear between him and the ground. What should he do?

He was trying to make that hole big enough to get at the honey.

"Wood! Wood!" said Buster Bear, more loudly than before.

The effect was just as if some one had struck a thorn in the sole of one of Buster's feet, so suddenly did he scramble a little higher. He looked down. Buster was almost up to the hollow part where the honey was. But Cubby didn't think of honey. He whimpered and whined and snarled at them angrily. But the one thing he was thinking of was the fact that Buster Bear was in the same tree with him and he couldn't get down.

Buster looked up at Cubby, drew back his lips so that he showed all his great teeth and growled his ugliest-sounding growl—a deep rumbling growl. Right then and there Cubby Bear began to climb. He scrambled on up that tree. He scrambled up and up until it wasn't safe for a half-grown Bear to go any higher. A great many of the bees went up with him. Some of the bees, of course, had discovered a new danger in Buster Bear and were swarming around Buster. But others, and a great many of the bees, followed Cubby. So there he was in the top of a big tall tree with bees to fight and no honey to reward him for

2 NEW YORKERS TRY TO BRIBE OFFICE BOY

New York, August 7.—(AP)—Two men were arrested today charged with attempting to bribe an Associated Press office boy to falsify figures given him by the New York Clearing House for delivery to his office. The figures, which gave the previous day's bank clearings often are used in gambling pools.

The two men, Lawrence Steckman and Nathan Felington, were arrested as they were talking to the office boy, Harold Harris, 16, in front of the clearing house, where each day Harris gets the figures and takes them to the Associated Press' Wall Street office.

They approached him Monday, Harris told police, and offered him $50 if he would change the fourth figure to read "three." He refused, but said nothing to his employers about it. Yesterday they again approached him, he said, and offered him $75. He again refused and when he returned to the office told his superior.

The latter took the boy to police headquarters where two detectives were assigned to go with him on his rounds and when Steckman and Felington approached him they were taken into custody.

They told police that they were acting for another man, whose name they gave. He is being sought. In one of Steckman's pockets, police said, they found $75 in bills, and in another pocket a smaller amount of money.

Yankees Swamp Athletics in Opener, 13-1, But Lose Lightcap, 4-2

RUTH, COCHRANE, KOENIG, LAZZERI HIT HOME RUNS

Mackmen's Lead Remains Same as Team Split Twin Bill.

Philadelphia, August 7.—(AP)—The New York Yankees failed to cut into the 11-2 game lead of the pace-setting Athletics today, dropping a tight pitcher's battle in the second game of a double-header, 4 to 2, after slugging out a riotous victory in the first contest, 13 to 1.

George Earnshaw won his 18th victory of the season and his first this year over the Yankees in the second game, silencing the Yankee hitting thunder with only five safeties. A fumble by Lazzeri in the eighth helped the Athletics come from behind with a three-run rally to beat Roy Sherid, young Yankee right-hander, who held the A's to eight hits. Lefty Grove pitched the final inning for the Athletics.

HAAS STARTS TROUBLE.

Haas's third hit of the game started Sherid's trouble in the eighth. Lazzeri fumbled Cochrane's roller, Simmons swung, Fox hit a sacrifice fly and King Miller doubled to clinch the game.

Although George Pipgras didn't have to be exceptionally good in the first game, he held the Athletics to one run, Cochrane's homer in the first, and a total of seven hits while Babe Ruth, Bob Meusel, Koenig and Lazzeri hit homers that accounted for ten of the Yankee runs.

RUTH HITS HOMER.

Ruth hit his 25th of the season and his second with the bases full in two days in the second inning and Koenig hit another with two on in the same frame. The Babe's third homer in two days started Howard Ehmke for the Athletics. Bill Shores and Ossie Grizzard finished for the A's.

A crowd estimated at 45,000, the largest ever to watch the Athletics at home, saw the twin bill.

TED SANDWINA WINNING BOUTS IN COMEBACK

Loughran Says German-American Heavyweight Has Added Polish.

By Tommy Loughran, Light Heavyweight Champion of the World.
(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)
New York, August 7.—When a fighter is rushed too fast it sometimes ruins him. Most often it does. But there are exceptions, and one of them seems to be this big German-American, Ted Sandwina. I call him a German-American because, although he was born in the United States, he was taken back to his parents' fatherland as a baby and raised there.

A couple of seasons ago, when Ted was hardly 19, he was brought to the United States to seek the heavyweight championship. He had knocked out nearly everyone he fought in Europe and expected to do the same here. Though Ted must have been a big time, he was tossed in with Otto Von Porat, one of the hardest hitters in the game. Von Porat flattened him but he came back to win by a knockout in the 15th round.

Next he fought with Mike Sankovitch and went out in the first round. That sent him back home.
He stayed in Europe two years and scored 18 knockouts in 19 bouts. Ted lost on a foul to Phil Scott, though many experts at the ringside said the punch was really fair and that Scott should have been numbered among the German's K. O. victims. During those two years Ted added a lot of polish. He learned something about boxing and began to hit harder than he ever did in his life.

Now, he is back in America, and already he has stopped two very good performers in Harry Dillon and Benny Touchstone. Next week he is due to mix with Phil Mercurio, a big, fast youngster who was one of Tom Heeney's sparring partners at Fairhaven last summer. Sandwina will probably take Mercurio over the hurdles and then go after bigger game.

CAMPOLLO-HEENEY.

Victoria Campollo fights Tom Heeney on the same bill. I don't know much about this Campollo, who is supposed to be the best heavyweight in the Argentine. He stands six foot five and weighs 240. That's too big for a fighter. Carrying that much weight he must be slow. The only huge champion we ever had was Jess Willard, and he was a child of fortune in a way. Campollo was knocked out by Monte Munn in his own country, but Munn never was much to brag of as a fighter.

Still, you can't tell in this game. The Argentine champion may turn out to be a sensation. He will have a fair test with Heeney, an aggressive and courageous performer even though he isn't as good as he was a year ago.

too, see the handwriting on the wall.

"The present New Orleans team is one of the best in the Hetemann regime. All that it has to do is to play the baseball of which it is capable—to hustle all the way, take nothing for granted, beat down on the lowly as well as they do against the first flight team and it will come home on top."

"One thing the team should have is the loyal support of the fans. It is entitled to that. Birmingham and Atlanta have given their teams better backing than the fans have given the Pelicans. And neither the Baron or Cracker fans have as fine a test with Heeney, an aggressive and courageous performer even though he isn't as good as he was a year ago."

Improvements.
Meanwhile, this department wants to launch a movement to force the Nashville management to build a baseball park. Their cheap, short right field fence has made a joke of the game there. It has made Jim Poole the home-run hitter of the league with a cap and bells on his head instead of a crown.

And worse than that, the hill in right field, upon which players must stand to catch ordinary fly balls, cost the Crackers the services of Don Brennan. Brennan fell off the precipice and broke his collarbone.

The park, built by Jimmy Hamilton to fit a warped ball club, is a disgrace to the game and an outrage to the visiting teams.

Trumbull Sees Half Dozen Golfers Who May Beat Bobby Jones

GREAT FIELD SEEKS AMATEUR GOLF CROWN

Stars From Three Countries Will Compete at Del Monte.

By Walter Trumbull.
(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

New York, August 7.—Golfers from the United States, Great Britain, Canada and Hawaii will be among those 162 amateurs who soon will be striving on the Del Monte, California, links for the crown now worn by Bobby Jones. This should be the greatest national amateur championship ever held.

Long hitting Cyril Tolley, fighting George Von Elm, game Jess Sweetser, Ross Somerville, Canadian champion; young Watts Gunn, and the veterans, Olinet, Evans and Guilford, all will be among the starters. So will George Voight, John Dawson, Harrison Johnston, Dr. Willing, Don Moss, Maurice McCarthy, Jack Neville, Chandler Engen, Rudy Knepper, Keele Carter, John Ames, Frank Dolph, Lord Charles Hope and Philip Finlay. So will many other good wielders of the wood and iron, including Bobby Jones.

WILL TRAIL BOBBY.
Jones and Neville, Tolley and Johnston, Don Moss and Major Colin Campbell, Finlay and Somerville are paired in the qualifying rounds on September 2 and 3. Any of those matches should carry a gallery, but the chances are that the largest crowd will follow Jones. It always does.

If some young man should beat Bobby in the first round of match play, about all he would get from the scamping golf bugs would be resentment at what they would regard as an unjustifiable accident, yet there are half a dozen or more who might do it.

HAVE CHANCE.
At medal play, only Von Elm, Voight and perhaps one or two more, would have the ghost of a chance with Jones, but match play makes a lot of difference. One or two bad holes do not amount to much. There are a lot of youngsters in this tournament who are going to take 'em as they lie and sock 'em for the pin, and if one of these boys gets hot and things begin to break for him, he's likely to trim R. T. Jones, Jr., or anybody else. Moreover, one of the veterans just may have a great round or two left in this system.

Fast Dirt Track To Be Built Here

Dixie Speedways Corporation filed application for a charter this afternoon in the Fulton county superior court. George Hamilton, Mrs. Francis Hamilton and H. B. Troutman were those signing the petition. The corporation lists its stock at $100,000 but asks permission to increase it later to $100,000.

Hamilton has leased a site for his speedway on the Paces Ferry road just across the river in Cobb county. He plans to build a half mile banked dirt track capable of holding a speed of 90 miles an hour.

Hamilton's races will all be under sanction of the American Automobile Association and he plans to stage his first races on Labor Day.

Lincoln Fields To Open Long Meet

Chicago, August 7.—(AP)—With its program built around the $25,000 Lincoln handicap, the Lincoln Fields Jockey Club will open its 30-day summer meeting August 26.

The meeting will be conducted under the direction of G. Bruce Head, former general manager of the Fairmount Jockey Club, which recently was sold to a New Orleans group.

One-Legged Golfer Shoots Sterling 86

New York, August 6.—J. Edmund Dowd, one-legged golfer of Cortland, N. Y., accomplished a remarkable feat at the Cortland Country Club when he played nine holes in a score of 40, which is just four strokes over par.

During the round Dowd was just one over par on four holes. Probably his best effort came at the long 579-yard sixth, which he played in par 5. His driving, approaching and putting were steady throughout, as he scored a 46 to match the fine 40, giving him an 86 for the afternoon's 18 holes. Few players who stood on two legs played as good golf as Dowd turned in despite his physical handicap.

His score for the 18 holes follows:
Out 44 555 544—40
In 535 747 596—86

Mary Browne Praises Helen Wills' Tennis

Believes American Women Will Win Wightman Cup Trophy This Week.

By Mary K. Browne,
Former National Women's Tennis Champion.

New York, August 7.—Four California women tennis stars will carry the Stars and Stripes into battle against the British invaders in a friendly but spirited battle for the coveted Wightman cup trophy Friday and Saturday at Forest Hills. This trophy which has been in existence six years has been won three times by each nation.

I have twice captained the American team and know the excitement which accompanies these international competitions. The players will give their all to win for their country. Team spirit and patriotism is as strong among these girls as among our men who have struggled to retain and regain the Davis cup, and inspires some remarkably good tennis.

MORE POPULAR.
The women's matches are drawing larger and larger galleries each year—and no wonder, for there is no natty-pammy hitting of the tennis ball. In fact, yesterday during practice at the stadium it sounded to me like a rifle range. Sizzling, screaming, bullet-like balls crossed low over the net and slid away over the turf. Helen Wills, Helen Jacobs and Betty Nuthall, with resounding racket, had their respective men opponents standing on their ears, digging and scrambling to retrieve their shots. The girls were hitting as hard as the men and placing with uncanny accuracy.

I am not exaggerating when I say that I could scarcely follow some of Helen Wills' drives. She seemed more severe than ever, especially in polishing off a weak return from her opponent's racket.

Helen Wills, our leading lady, will be supported by Helen Jacobs, Edith Cross and Mrs. George Wightman. We will have the English in the singles combat but may have to yield to the British in doubles play.

IMPROVED PLAYER.
Betty Nuthall, the sensation of two years ago and the idol of the English nation, comes back to America a much improved player. She has an entirely new acquisition, an overhead service, also a gorgeous backhand stroke. So much improved that it overshadows her once famous forehand. In fact, Helen Wills said that she believes it to be her best stroke.

The four young matrons, Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Covert and Mrs. Shepherd-Barron, who with Betty Nuthall make up the English team, carry their "Mrs." with light hearts, swiftness of foot and a keenness which is in no way a handicap.

It was thinking it just as well that Hollywood is 3,000 miles from Forest Hills and could not hear the delightful, fascinating voices of these English girls. I am perfectly sure they would have been snipped up on the spot by the "talkies."

MATCHES UNCERTAIN.
The Wightman cup contest holds more interest to me than the championship because of the element of uncertainty. It is the most sure thing in this most unsure world that Helen Wills will mop up the court with her opponents, but after that there is nothing cut and dried. Betty Nuthall and Helen Jacobs stand match all and the meeting of these two looms as the feature match of the contest. The difficulties of competing in a foreign country seem to have been surmounted by both Helen Jacobs and Betty Nuthall as each has won in the other's country.

Betty Nuthall discussed with me the feeling she has when she plays Helen Wills. She said that Helen was so big and strong it is just like playing a man. She has the little extra reach and that extra power, especially in her service, which distinguishes the play of men from that of women.

Of course Helen Wills cannot compete on equal terms with the best men but she is better by far than the average man and that is why she is so supreme in women's competition.

P. S.—Helen Wills tells me she will wear stockings at Forest Hills. There was entirely too much publicity given her stockingless legs in Paris.

Wightman Cup Team Selected

New York, August 7.—(United News.)—Mrs. Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman, duces of the Wightman cup, was selected today as the fourth and final member of the United States team which will meet the English women in the annual international tennis series at Forest Hills Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. Wightman will pair with Helen Jacobs, of California, on the No. 2 doubles team. She is the only easterner on the United States team which is completed by three Californians, previously named, as follows: Singles, No. 1, Helen Wills; No. 2, Helen Jacobs; No. 3, Edith Cross, Doubles, No. 1, Miss Wills and Miss Cross.

Waltonites Win At Cartersville

Cartersville, Ga., August 7.—(Special.)—Tubby Walton's Firecrackers defeated the Cartersville baseball team here today, 6 to 4.

The pitching of Jim Kreider and the fielding of Tiny Osborne, at first base, were some of the features. Walton's Firecrackers played a well-balanced game and kept ahead all the way.

Former Traveler Takes Own Life

Chicago, August 7.—(AP)—The body of Tony Brotten, former catcher of the Little Rock Southern association club, was identified today by Umpire Moran.

Brotten's body was found Sunday night and a coroner's jury yesterday decided he ended his own life in a fit of despondency.

No word has been received here from Brotten's sister, but an undertaker of Tacoma, Wash., has telegraphed to have the body sent there. A letter from his sister was the only clue to his identity before the positive identification today.

Brotten was given an unconditional release from the Dayton Central league baseball club two weeks ago, and previous to that had played with Louisville in the American association since leaving the Southern association.

Three Hurt as Fans Stamped at Fight

Juarez, Mexico, August 7.—(AP)—Three persons were injured, when rain caused a stampede from the bull ring here last night during the preliminaries to a 12-round bout in which Trip Lambrecht of Mathews, defeated Blas Rodriguez, of Torreon, Mex. It was said the injured would recover.

Rodriguez had a slight edge on the Filipino until the fifth round when he claimed a foul. He said he was unable to continue and the referee declared Lambrecht the winner. A physician who examined Rodriguez said the blow landed on the stomach and was not a foul.

Big Turnouts.
The Athletics have averaged an attendance of 15,000 a day all year, and that without Sunday baseball crowds.

BLACK, GRANT GET VENGEANCE AT CAPITAL CITY

Walsh and Garlington Downed in Grudge Match.

Dave Black and John Grant, Jr., defeated Tully Walsh and Dick Garlington, 4-3, Wednesday afternoon in an 18-hole grudge match over the Capital City course. Black and Grant were eliminated and Walsh and Garlington in the recent club championship tournament and challenged the victors to a match. Walsh was runner up and Garlington is the new club champion.

Dave Black was the star of the foursome Wednesday for he was "right" and shot a neat 71, which equaled par for the course. Grant, his partner, was not far behind with a 76 and the two had a best ball of 66, five strokes under par.

Garlington and Walsh played good golf but could not equal Black's par rounds and Grant's spasmodic golf to help his partner win the match. With the club championship and various grudge matches out of the way, Capital City golfers will start qualifying today for the C. T. Nunnally trophy tournament. Qualifying rounds will continue through Saturday, when pairings will be made and match play will start Sunday.

Capital City golfers here aroused considerable interest among themselves and the recent club championship was one of the most successful of all club tournaments. An equally large number of players are expected to enter the Nunnally trophy tournament.

Youngest Jurist Visits Forrest Hills.

Judge John L. Glenn, of South Carolina, the youngest federal judge in the country, was a visitor at the Forrest Hills Golf Club Wednesday. Judge Glenn is a former football star and a graduate of Oxford college. He played over the nine-hole course and had the pleasure of witnessing the ending of one of the closest foursomes that has ever been played on the course.

C. W. Matthews, L. G. Pearce, Roy E. Cawhern and Tom Adams played in a foursome and finished 36, 37, 37 and 38, in the order named, an unusual feat in local golf circles. On number seven, Matthews, Pearce and Cawhern had three while Adams had a par four.

Soon after the foursome turned in their spectacular scores, Etheridge, a one-armed golfer, turned in a score of 44 for the nine holes. Etheridge has also played the Piedmont and other golf courses in the city.

Four Matches Played In Oil Tourney.

Two more matches were played and two others defaulted Wednesday on the East Lake course in the Texas Oil Company tournament. Steve Hartney defeated Carlyle Holloman, 3-2, and S. T. Lewis defeated Eli Smith, 3-2, in the second flight. E. E. McLaughlin won by default from J. C. Thompson and J. D. Getton won by default from W. E. McIntosh in the second flight.

Knowles, Wilson Win at Ansley.

Ansley Park golfers completed two matches Wednesday in the club handicap tournament now in progress. W. M. Knowles defeated H. H. Marshall, 6-5, in the semi-final match in the second flight and Frank Wilson defeated Charlie Ansley, 3-2, in a semi-final match in the third flight.

Insurance Golfers Play at Picnic.
While all insurance company employees were enjoying an annual picnic and general outing Tuesday at East Lake, members of the Insurance Golf league played off the round scheduled for today.

Although the players were in team matches, their individual scores counted in the final 18 holes of a tournament to decide the individual champion.

Maurice Regimbal, 9-year-old caddy at North Bay, Ontario, Canada, golf club, has astonished the golfing world by scoring a hole-in-one on a 125-yard hole of the club course. Maurice is believed the youngest golfer to achieve the golfer's dream.

HAGEN LIKES EKWANOK CLUB GOLF COURSE

Vermont Offers Unusually Fine Test on Beautiful Links.

By Walter Hagen,
British Open Golf Champion.
(Special Dispatch to The Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Manchester, Vt., August 7. The oldest and best known of golf courses in this state is at the Ekwonok Country Club near this city. The links are laid out in the mountains and lie in a valley under the shadow of Mount Equinox.

This course has long been famous for the excellence of its golf and the beauty of its surroundings. They tell the story here of a gentleman who on his first visit to Ekwonok was playing a round with Walter J. Travis, Mr. Travis, with his customary concentration, devoted himself exclusively to the game.

About the ninth hole the visitor could keep silent no longer and broke out with enthusiastic comments on the mountain scenery. Mr. Travis clamped his jaw a little tighter on his cigar and spoke just three words: "I'm playing golf."

However, either the golf or the scenery must have made a fine impression on him for he has for many years been a regular visitor to Manchester and two years ago laid out a new course north of Ekwonok.

AMATEUR TOURNAMENT.
Ekwonok attained its greatest prominence in 1914 when Francis Ouimet won the amateur championship over the course. While this is the only time a national tournament has been held here, Ekwonok yearly holds two very fine tournaments for the Orvis and Isham cups. The Isham cup is the older and more prominent tournament and some of the greatest names in American golf are engraved on the trophy. Fred Herreshoff, Walter J. Travis and Max Marston have been among the winners.

The Ekwonok course is a fine test of golf over excellent fairways and superb greens. There is not a mediocre hole in the whole eighteen. It is a course which demands the best of your game and one which you will never tire of playing. The eighteen holes are made up of two three-shot holes (one of these a truly terrific

FREE, WHITE & FEMALE

by Clarence Budington Kelland

SIXTEENTH INSTALLMENT.

"It's not so," she said aloud. "My God!" said Blade hoarsely. And then both were silent and motionless again.

Martha closed her eyes, but opened them again quickly, because she saw frightful pictures against which her soul revolted. Strangely, in that first brief time, it was not shock at the death of a human being which rendered her weak, incapable of motion. It was rather astonishment—astonishment and protest—that such a thing should have happened in her presence!

"This," she told herself, "cannot have happened to me!"

Horror gripped her, not of the deed she had witnessed, but of its consequences to her. It had been her belief that the opinion of others as to herself and her conduct was without importance. What did she care what people thought? She was free, independent, possessed of a sort of divine right to do as she pleased—and public opinion was a negligible thing. Now she found it was not negligible. When she shut her eyes for that brief instant she had seen headlines: she had seen flaring, pictured scandal; she had seen ghastly glowing—and her young life in ruins. Not her picture, beautiful and lauded in the motion picture magazines, but a photograph as "the woman in the case."

Lifting herself by the arms of her chair, she stood erect and started at Mortimer Blade. He was a man, and it was woman's right to look to him for help in emergency. But he, pallid, shaking visibly, was no strong reed upon which to lean.

"She's gone," he said, "and we're holding the bag."

"Is—she dead?"

"I don't know. . . . Yes. . . . Yes."

She gripped herself; something must be done and she must take command. She walked to the table and looked down upon Colburn, shuddering. Then, automatically, almost without realizing she did so, she stooped, picked up the revolver, dropped it to the floor, and clung to it.

"Nobody's in the house," she said.

"Someone might have heard—the shots."

"Does anyone know that we came here?"

He stared at her and some reason and resolution dawned in his vacant eye.

"No. . . . We've got to clear out of this."

"And leave—"

"Do you want to be found here?" he asked roughly.

That was the solution—a chance of a solution. No one knew she was dining there. It was unlikely Colburn had told anyone. If, then, they could make their escape without being seen, the fact might never be discovered.

"Hurry," she said, "hurry."

"Your hat. Don't leave anything."

"It's in the bedroom."

Blade returned with her hat and his, making a wide circuit not to pass close to Colburn's sprawling feet—grotesquely chubby feet. He opened the door a crack and peered into the hall. It was unoccupied.

"Come on," he said.

They left the apartment swiftly, closing the door behind them and almost ran down the hall to the sidewalk and turned to the right. With feet away they met a man approaching—a Japanese, who glanced at them and passed on.

"A taxi," said Martha.

"No. Taxi men remember. We mustn't be seen in this neighborhood. We must be seen somewhere else, as far away as possible and as quickly."

"The L. then," she said, and they hastened on, mounted the stairs and entered a train which fortunately rumbled in as they arrived. They rode two stations and Blade arose.

"Where?" she asked.

"Miss Patty's," he said.

"Yes, yes. That's all right."

They descended the stairway, speechless, and made their way the half block to the blue door beside the garage which gave entrance to that exclusive dispensary of bootleg liquor.

"It's ten minutes past nine," said Blade.

Martha's mind operated. "When we get in," she said, "look at your watch again. Say it is a quarter to nine. Make a point of it."

"I get you," he said.

Jimmy opened the door for them, and smiled bashfully. Martha made effort to speak to him casually, playfully, as was her custom. "How's my best beau tonight?" she asked.

"I'm all right," Jimmy said, and blushed to his hair.

At the head of the stairs Katie met them with diffident courtesy, her eyes falling as they encountered Blade. She took his hat. "Miss Patty's in the back room," she said.

"Who's here?"

"Just a small party for dinner. Shall I take your bag, Miss Bundy?"

Her bag! Martha glanced down, became conscious of what she held in her hand, and her heart missed a beat. Dickie Vernon's bag, and inside it a revolver—with two cartridges fired! She clutched it tighter. "No," she said.

"Brace up," whispered Blade.

Katie disappeared with the hat. "I've got the revolver here," said Martha in a whisper. "I—I took it unconsciously."

Blade bit his lip and swore. "Then hang on to it," he said harshly. "Till you can lose it somewhere."

Miss Patty came through the door, as always, in a state of hurried enthusiasm. She paused and clasped her hands. "My dear!" she exclaimed. "Where have you been all these days? Why didn't you come in to dinner? I've a new chef. . . . And Mr. Blade, too. We're always glad to see you, even if you do get a little rough sometimes."

Blade compressed his lips at this arch but tactless reference.

"We're early," said Martha. "What time is it, Mortimer?"

He looked at his watch. "Ten minutes of nine," he said. "Earlier than I thought."

"Ten minutes of nine is just the right time," said Miss Patty. "Come right in with me now. You can't guess who's here."

She flung back the door, and they entered the rear room, where the big photograph was playing and where a table had been set for the dinner party of six. The first face Martha saw was Jerry Breen's, the second her father's. . . . She stopped and caught her breath.

"There," said Miss Patty, "isn't that a lovely surprise? Your roommate."

It was with the nicest elderly gentleman. And an artist and an author, too. You know, I love to have this place a sort of headquarters for people who do things."

There was no drawing back now, so Martha advanced, bitterly conscious of what she held dangling in her hand, and seemed to her that every eye must seek that bag unerringly, and she was sure the outlines of the weapon it contained must be apparent. But she dared not lay it down; she must permit no chance of another hand than hers touching it.

"Why, Martha!" exclaimed Jerry. "It is," said Banks Prouty, "none other than she. Bring up a chair. Bring up two chairs; bring up all the chairs your heart desires. And Mr. Blade, of Long Island. You know Elverson Bundy, then who there is no whomever, and you know the girls, but you don't—you can't—know this friend of my childhood, whom I met for the first time this evening." He waved his hand to Mr. Bundy, who lifted twinkling, inscrutable eyes, but gave no sign of recognition.

"This," continued Prouty, "is none other than Mr. Bundy, who, seeing the evil of a life of bachelors and Victorian virtue, has laid aside his plowshare and his bedroom slippers to plunge into the city's wicked netherworld. . . . Mr. Bundy—Miss Bundy. Heigh! Who's this? Same names!"

"The young lady," said Martha's father, "won't object to sharing it with me—for one evening. I shan't be—crampy her style."

"And Mr. Blade," introduced Prouty.

Mr. Bundy's eyes took in the young man, and he nodded genially. "I think I have met Mr. Blade," he said.

"Then everything's set, and where do we go from here? Let's have a great deal to drink and then commit ourselves on a cop."

"But that," said Mr. Bundy, "is not modern. We used to do that when I was a boy. Would you call this a wild party?"

"Why—not exactly."

"Then let's be wild."

"Is Miss Bundy your daughter?" asked Ferris.

"To be sure."

Mr. Ferris blinked. "I've written some pretty modern stories, you know, but I don't recall going quite that far, even in fiction. It's one too many."

"Oh? One too many. Weren't you arguing a while ago that there isn't any such thing as morals? And that nothing could be either right or wrong. And then you up and get shocked just because Marty drops in while I'm giving a little party!"

"But, after all, there is good taste and decency. She's your daughter."

"To be sure. But you were saying."

For the first time in months a smile of peace and happiness lighted Jane's face. "I was in time after all!" cried the ape-man, coming to the ground in a little grassy clearing. The girl, still dazed from her terrible experience, could not believe her senses. Were they not in Heaven? "No, dear, we are both very much alive," laughed Tarzan.

She came close to him and laid a hand, soft and trembling, upon his arm. "It must be that I am dreaming, and that I shall awake to see that awful knife descending toward my heart. Kiss me, just once, before I lose my dream forever." Tarzan of the Apes needed no second invitation. He took the girl he loved in his strong arms and kissed her, not once but a hundred times.

FEDERAL POWER BOARD TO VALUE MANY STATES

Estimates of Worth of Water Power Projects To Be Made by Commission.

Washington, August 7.—(AP)—The federal power commission has initiated an examination of valuation estimates of hydro-electric power companies upon water power projects throughout the nation.

This became known today as the result of work of Charles A. Russell, who took over the newly created office of solicitor to the commission a month ago, in formulating opinions for the guidance of the body's chief accountant in the valuation of the projects. The commission, according to its records, is facing the adjudication of $1,000,000,000 in valuation claims which are under dispute.

This work, which is one of the functions the commission is required to perform under the law, has not been done in the past because of the shortage of personnel.

The first of the disputed claims to come under the scrutiny of Solicitor Russell deals with the application of the Cumberland Hydro-Electric Company for a license to develop power at Cumberland Falls, Ky., and it has been suggested that the company be required to submit a plan of development of the project.
